SLAYER SLIPS IN HOME WHILE DOOR IS OPEN

Movie Director Escorts Actor to Car Leaving Door Open.

Cigaret Stubs Tell of Vigil Kept By Slayer Near Home.

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—A half dozen cigarette stubs offered today the key to a mystery which for 24 hours has been deeper than any developed in his work by William Desmond Taylor, noted motion picture director, slain Wednesday night at his home here. These half smoked remains found near the back door of his luxuriously appointed residence, according to investigators, give mute evidence that some man apparently waited nervously there on the evening of the murder.

They link with statements by Mrs. Douglas MacLean, wife of a motion picture actor, that on the evening of the murder she heard a shot fired, and looking from the window of her home, which overlooks that of Taylor, saw a man, stranger to her emerge from the front door of Taylor's home, look back and apparently speak close the door and depart.

Another link is a statement by oil employes in a station nearby, that an hour prior to that time, a stranger whom they described similarly, asked them where W. D. Taylor lived and they directed him to a place where the shooting later occurred. The crew of a street car added information that at a time closely corresponding to that which Mrs. MacLean gives as of the departure of the mystery man from Taylor's house, a stranger boarded the car at a stop close by, from which passengers rarely boarded a car. They described him similarly.

The movements of this stranger coincide with the visit of Mabel Normand, motion picture actress, to Taylor's home on the evening of the murder. Taylor escorted Miss Normand to her motor car and talked a few minutes with her there. The front door of his home was open. Investigators suggest that the stranger who had been nervously smoking cigarettes while waiting for an opportunity to get at Taylor, apparently entered the apartment while the door was open and Taylor was out talking to Miss Normand.

The time Miss Normand fixed as that of her departure closely corresponds to the time Mrs MacLean says she heard the shot and indications possibly investigators say, that the stranger shot Taylor immediately after Taylor returned to the house and seated himself before his desk to continue work on his income tax statement.

Miss Edna Purviance, motion picture actress, who occupies a two story bungalow similar to that of Taylor in the same court or group of buildings, informed police that she returned home about midnight Wednesday and observed lights burning in Taylor's home. She said she thought nothing of it, as she knew Taylor to be a reader who often remained up late. She said she was awakened the following morning by screams of Taylor's negro valet who upon reporting for work at Taylor's house discovered the body of his employer and fled shrieking down the street.

The search by police for Edward Sands, former valet-secretary of Taylor for whom warrants on charges of grand larceny were obtained by Taylor several weeks ago extends to Fresno and Sacramento, according to the police, although Sands was known to have been here recently.

Jewelry stolen from Taylor's residence was pawned in Fresno and Sacramento and the pawn tickets, with Christmas and New Years greetings were returned by mail to Taylor. Taylor in reporting this to the police recently said that he recognized the handwriting as that of Sands.

Sands, according to a report made a year ago by Taylor on his return from Europe, robbed him of jewelry, clothing and an automobile. Sands, Taylor then reported, had been in charge of the Taylor house and had taken many things and money. A warrant on two charges of grand larceny was issued August 3.

The second robbery of the house reported to the police was several weeks ago. The rear door was smashed in and the place thoroughly ransacked and a stock of distinctive gold tipped cigarettes and jewelry taken, according to the report to the police. A week later the negro houseman found a gold tipped cigarette of this variety on the door step which Taylor reported to the police as an indication that the robber had revisited the scene.

This was followed by receipt of a letter signed "Alias Jimmy V," apparently mailed in Sacramento in which tickets of jewelry pawned in Fresno and Sacramento were enclosed.

M'NIDER SPURNS SENATE OFFER

Legion Commander Prefers to Remain at Head Of Service Men Than to Sit With Senate.

Baltimore, Feb. 3.—Hanford MacNider, national commander of the American Legion, refused to accept appointment to the United States senate from Iowa to succeed W. S. Kenyon, who resigned to become a federal judge, Colonel Washington Bowie, Jr, announced at a meeting of the Maryland executive committee of the American Legion yesterday at which Colonel MacNider was present. Colonel Bowie added that Colonel MacNider declined the post to remain at the head of the American Legion. Colonel MacNider made no comment. Colonel Bowie said today that his information came from a member of Colonel MacNider's party. The national commander, who came to Baltimore yesterday to address the executive committee, left in the evening for York, Pa.

DOLD GUILTY; COURT HOLDS

Two $300 Fines are Assessed By Judge Alexander — Dold Gets Back 10 Quarts of Liquor.

In the case of Richard Dold, charged with the sale and possession of intoxicating liquor, Judge Alexander of the probate court found his guilty of both charges in court this morning and fined him $300 and costs on each charge.

Dold's consolation, if such it could be called, was the authorization by the court for the return of 11 of the quarts of bonded liquor which were seized at his North Fourth street place of business at the time of the raid last month. The labels on the 11 bottles showed that the liquor had been bonded in 1915, proving that possession was not illegal.

Thus briefly might [illegible] story of swift retribution for [illegible] boys [illegible] be [illegible].

It happened at the Mound street school yesterday after school hour. A lad, William Haynes [illegible] his comrades, had eaten raw garlic. As he waited in the hall for a companion a little girl came along and he wafted his garlic scented breath on the air. The aforesaid little girl did not like it and showed her dislike by slapping the boy.

The latter [illegible] the ire of his teacher started to hurry down the stairs. He even sought to break and her school rule and hastened his [illegible] sliding the banister. However [illegible] was an unlucky day. He [illegible] the banister and fell a distance of [illegible] eight feet. When picked up he had suffered a fractured rib.

ALLIED DEBT BILL PASSED

Senate Amendments Are Accepted By House and Bill Now Goes to the President.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Senate amendments to the allied debt refunding bill were accepted today by the house. The measure now goes to the President, who is expected to appoint soon the commission which is to open negotiations with the debtor nations.

Administration objections to the senate requirements that the refunded obligations mature not later than June 15, 1947, and that the minimum interest rate be 4 1-4 per cent, were withdrawn after a White House conference between the President and Chairman Fordney of the house ways and means committee and Secretary Mellon of the treasury department.

Neither the administration nor Republican leaders or the house leaders favored the changes, but it was explained they had decided to accept them, because there would be further delay in final enactment of the legislation if the bill were sent to conference.

FOUR BALLOTS FAIL TO PICK NEW POPE

Rome, Feb 3.—The third and fourth ballots were taken by the conclave of the Sacred College this evening in an effort to choose a successor to Pope Benedict. There were no choice, however, on either ballot. The first and second ballots were taken earlier in the day. It was announced that four ballots will be taken daily.

TAKEN TO LIMA HOSPITAL.

Columbus, Feb. 3.—Charles Hill, alias Enio Pelto, 28, Ohio penitentiary life prisoner, who with William Rippl, was to be the subject of investigation in connection with the murders of Misses Louise Wolfe and Mabel Foote, Parma high school teachers, today was removed to the state hospital for the criminally insane at Lima.

STATE TROOPS ARE HURRIED TO NEWPORT PLANT

Governor Morrow Sends 300 Soldiers for Strike Duty.

Safety Commissioner is Menaced By Strike Sympathizers.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 3.—With the Covington Tank company in control, upward of 300 Kentucky National Guardsmen today are in or enroute to Newport, Ky., having been ordered out late yesterday by Governor Morrow for strike duty. That the troops, sent there for the second time within five weeks, will not be withdrawn soon unless order is restored completely was indicated by the order commanding officers not to take men who could not remain there indefinitely.

Troops were withdrawn from Newport 10 days ago after having been there since December 26.

Newport, Ky., Feb. 3.—Quiet prevailed in Newport early today, except for intermittent shooting in the vicinity of the Newport rolling mill where a strike is in progress and where a tank company of sixty officers and men, with seven tanks are on guard, assisting deputy sheriffs and Newport police to maintain order.

Shortly before 2 o'clock this morning, a flurry was caused when sniping from outside the mill was followed by firing from machine and riot guns inside the plant. The guns were turned toward the Covington bank of the Licking river. More than 100 shots were fired it was said, but no casualties were reported though one bullet struck a soldier's helmet.

Mayor [illegible] Safety Commissioner [illegible] was taken to police headquarters in a patrol wagon after he had attempted to disperse an assembly of strike sympathizers and had been menaced.

Sheriff Louis B Tieman then went to the scene to talk with the disturbers and was grazed by a bullet fired by a sniper.

Every window in the confectionery of Mrs. Mayme Murphy at Ninth and Brighton street, was shattered by bullets fired last night. The occupants of the house fled to safety, deserting their home.

Mrs. Frank Bahlman who owns a grocery at Ninth and Pattersons streets took her two daughters and son and [illegible] after several shots had swept through the store and one bullet had just grazed her head. Many other families sought refuge in their cellars or left their homes and took refuge other parts of the city with friends or neighbors.

FIRST BONUS CHECKS SOON

Will Be Mailed Week From Today, Officials Believe — Can Be Cashed Feb. 15.

Columbus, Feb. 3.—The first batch of soldier bonus vouchers numbering possibly 25,000, will be mailed out February 10 and may be cashed February 15, sinking fund commissioners predicted yesterday.

Conversion of bonds into cash will begin Monday, it was said and the full $20,000,000 may be in the treasury before the end of next week.

The soldier bonus funds will increase the total of bonds and cash in his custody to $132,000,000, Treasurer Archer said.

The great seal in the governor's office was never so busy in its history as yesterday. Between morning and last midnight it stamped down 20,000 times, that being the number of bonds that had to be sealed. The task was completed in one day by national guardsmen operating the seal in relays.

The work was behind locked doors and under the protection of a detail of guard men, headed by Captain H. H. Grave.

Half of the $20,000,000 worth of bonds has been sold by the syndicate which purchased them from the state, it was announced yesterday.

CHINESE PACTS MADE READY FOR FINAL SESSION

Formal Signature of Naval Treaty Will Take Place Monday — May Not Be Public Ceremony.

Washington, Feb 3.—The "big nine" of the arms conference meeting today for the last time whipped into shape the treaties relating to China and issued a formal call for a plenary session tomorrow to mark the final windup of the Washington negotiations.

It was decided to base only two treaties on the Chinese decisions of the conference and to embody them in a few resolutions adopted in regard to Chinese questions. One of the treaties will cover the Chinese tariff revision and the other the Root "four points" and the open door. The remaining resolutions are to be presented at the final plenary session merely as a series of joint declarations of policy.

The nine delegation heads also discussed whether the formal signing of the naval and Far Eastern treaties Monday shall be in public or private. In some quarters it was suggested that the signatures be affixed at the big green table in Continental Hall where the plenary sessions are held, but there was no indication of a definite change in the original plan to hold the ceremony in the diplomatic anteroom of the state department which is too small to accommodate any considerable number of spectators.

Plans had been made today for the Japanese and Chinese to sign their treaty on Shantung, but it was decided to postpone that also until Monday. The only remaining formal meetings of the day were a windup session of the armaments committee and a similar session of the Far Eastern committee called for late afternoon to hear China's statement on the "twenty one demands" and to spread it and the Japanese statement of yesterday formally on the committee records.

HOW MANY WANT BONUS IN CASH?

House Committee Unable To Determine What Cost Will Be For First Two Years.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Soldiers bonus legislation now under discussion the house ways and means committee will carry a provision for raising the necessary revenue to finance it, Chairman Fordney announced today after a conference with President Harding at the White House. Whether the money will be obtained by internal taxes or the use of the proceeds from the refunded foreign debt, or both, remains to be determined, Mr. Fordney said.

Mr. Fordney expects the bill to be ready for the house within two weeks and thinks only a few days will be required for its passage.

Senate Republicans, in party conference already have voted to press the bonus legislation, but they have not decided upon details of the measure, particularly the means of raising the money.

Because of the uncertainty as to the number of former service men who will take the cash feature, the house committee is having difficulty in determining just what the cost will be for the first two years. The experts who have come before it have conceded that the estimated 50 per cent of the men, is little more than a guess. Some estimates are as high as 80 per cent.

Arguments for and against the tax on beer as a means of raising funds for the bonus were heard today by the committee and at their conclusion members indicated very clearly that such a tax was not to be considered.

DEFEATS WET MEASURE.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 3.—Unending aridity for all Winnipeg's advocates of modified prohibition through government controlled liquor stores, saw before them today. The legislature late last night rejected a referendum petition by the margin of two votes. The vote was 27 to 25.

EXECUTIONERS ASK FOR HIGHER SALARY

Berlin, Feb. 3.—The public executioners at Karlsruhe and Baden following the lead of their comrade at Mannheim, have notified the minister of justice that they will go on strike unless their pay is increased. They declare it impossible to behead criminals properly at present prices.

STINNES BIDS ON STEEL RAILS

German Industrial Leader Negotiates With American Railroads For Sale Of Steel Products.

New York, Feb. 3.—The name of Hugo Stinnes, one to conjure with in Germany, has smashed its way into Wall street.

Big business particularly the steel industry is interested [illegible] and is asking if Stinnes has designs upon commercial and industrial activities of this country.

Various reports have come to the United States concerning plans of the German Croesus to extend his interests to this country where he has heretofore been little known. But the first concrete evidence of his plans came yesterday with the announcement that he was negotiating with several American railroads for the sale of 15,000 tons of German rails, at a price including freight about $2 a ton less than the current American price of $40. A mere 15,000 tons is a relatively small offering, worth less than a half million dollars at Stinnes price. But it was pointed out it is announced very fair sized as an initial offering.

Whether Stinnes will follow up his invasion of American markets by efforts to acquire control of American industries is a question that time alone can solve. The United States is one of the few countries in the development of which he has apparently taken no hand. There have been reports that Stinnes was contemplating a visit to the United States to meet American capitalists, but no date was set for the visit.

His methods are similar to those of American financiers obtaining control of various coordinated interests, not by flat purchase, but by obtaining control of a majority of the stock and using his vast wealth and credit constantly for further expansion.

SENATE BLOCKS MOVE TO MODIFY DECREE

22 BODIES ARE RECOVERED IN MINE CHAMBER

Three More Buried Under Fall of Slate, Officials Say.

Appearance of Bodies Show Men Were Victims of Asphyxiation.

Gates, Pa., Feb. 3.—Twenty-five miners lost their lives in the explosion which wrecked a part of the Gates mine of the H. C. Frick Coke company yesterday, according to an official announcement today. Twenty-two bodies have been recovered. The other three are buried under a fall of slate, and cannot be reached from the entries in which rescue crews have been working. Rescue teams were sent early today to the Edenborn mine and expected to work their way through old workings to the section of the Gates mine affected by the explosion.

Six more dead were brought to the surface from the shaft of the mine early today, bringing the total to 22. All the bodies have been removed to a mortuary at Masontown. Belief was expressed by mine officials that the toll may mount higher, as there may be other miners, apart from the three or four other men unaccounted for, who were killed by an explosion in a section of the plant yesterday.

Reports indicated last night that there were at least 30 men in the section at the time of the explosion, all of whom could be accounted for with the exception of three or four men.

No hope was held out for the miners who could not be found but work continued energetically throughout last night and this morning by parties digging at slate and coal falls in an effort to recover the remaining bodies.

The cause of the explosion is undetermined as no attempt has been made in that direction, all work being bent toward rescue or the recovery of bodies. From the appearance of the bodies it was indicated however that the men had been asphyxiated as none of them was mutilated. Meantime, it was said investigations will be initiated by the county and coke company as soon as the plant was regarded as safe.

ARBUCKLE JURY AGAIN DISAGREES

San Francisco, Feb. 3.—The jury in the second trial of a manslaughter charge against Roscoe C. (Fatty) Arbuckle disagreed on the third day of its deliberation today. The jury had been out for 41 hours when it rendered its decision. The jury in the first trial remained out 43 hours. Juror Lee Dolson whose illness cut short the deliberation last night had completely recovered today. There was only a handful of spectators in the court room besides the regular attendants.

Foreman J. J. McElroy announced that the vote stood two to ten. He did not designate whether the majority was for conviction or acquittal.

"There is no chance for us to agree," McElroy said. A poll of the jury was taken to determine if they could agree on further deliberations. All emphatically said "no."

Arbuckle seemed downcast at the disagreement. Neither prosecution nor defense would announce its intentions regarding a new trial.

The case was put over until Monday to be set for trial. The court room was crowded for the result of the jury's deliberations.

The jurors all seemed haggard and worn. Gavin McNab, chief defense counsel said he would make a statement later.

After the disagreement the jury retired to the jury room. Corridor gossip said that the poll was ten to two for conviction.

GIOLOTI MAY BE PREMIER.

London, Feb 3.—The presidents of the Italian senate and chamber of deputies have advised King Victor Emmanuel to ask former Premier Giolotti to form a cabinet in succession to the Bonomi ministry, it is understood says a Central News dispatch from Rome today.

PLANT REOPENS.

Wausau, Feb 3.—The United States malleable iron company will open its plant here Monday, Feb 6, with a force of one hundred men, it was announced today. Work in preparation for opening the plant is being done this week. The plant has been closed for several months.

SCOUT BANQUET TO SET RECORD

More Than 400 Probably Will Be Seated at Father and Son Dinner, Celebrating Scout Anniversary.

The third annual Father and Son banquet of the Newark Council, Boy Scouts of America, which is to be held at the K. of P. hall Tuesday evening, promises to be the largest banquet of any kind ever held in Newark. There have [illegible] sold in the neighborhood of 400 tickets which means a gathering of 200 men and 200 boys. The principal event of the evening will be the address by A. R. Harper of Columbus.

There are still available a few tickets to the banquet and any scout and his dad desiring to go must get their tickets promptly. No tickets will be sold to anyone after noon Monday.

XENIA MAN WILL HEAD FARM BUREAU

Columbus, Feb. 3.—The Ohio Farm Bureau again this year will be headed by Oscar E. Bradfute of Xenia. He was re-elected president at the final session of the bureau today at Farmers Week at Ohio State University. B. M. O'Dattel of Bucyrus was elected vice president.

Elliott, Seville, was elected to serve the unexpired term of O. D. Owen of Beverly who is to resign to become a candidate for the legislature from Washington county.

Attendance at Farmers week today noon had reached 3,516 which is 113 ahead of the registration for the corresponding hour last year.

The Ohio rural life association, Guernsey cattle breeders, Ohio bee keepers and the Ohio sheep and wool growers will end their annual meetings today.

SHACKLETON'S BODY TO REST IN GEORGIA

London, Feb 3.—Sir Ernest Shackleton will be buried in South Georgia Island, in the South Atlantic.

Decision to this effect was reached yesterday by the explorer's widow, according to the Daily Mail this morning.

NO FLU REPORTED TO HEALTH BOARD

But two cases of contagious disease were reported to the local health commissioner, Dr. W. H. Knauss, up to noon today. One was a case of scarlet fever the other of chickenpox.

Rumors of flu in the city were dispelled by the report, for up to the present time there has not been a case of flu reported to the health commissioner.

HOME LAUNDERING NEED NOT BE DRUDGERY.

Clean clothes are necessary to health and comfort.

Much of the drudgery associated with wash day may be overcome by using good supplies, proper equipment, and following the best methods.

If the laundry is planned with as much care as the kitchen, and thought is given to putting in proper equipment and working out good methods, much hard work will be saved.

Government experts have worked with great care the means of lightening the task of the housewife who does her own washing. The result of their work is contained in a free government publication which our Washington Information Bureau will secure for any of our readers.

BIG EXTRAVAGANZA "MECCA," COMING.

In the cast of the big musical extravaganza, "Mecca," coming to the Auditorium shortly, local theatergoers will renew acquaintance with Ida Mulle, a great favorite of the Henderson Extravaganza days. Recently she celebrated the 40th anniversary of her stage debut, which occurred in Boston, when, as a mere child, she appeared as Josephine in a juvenile opera company presenting "Pinafore" at the Boston Museum. Later in her career she played Yum Yum in the New York production of "The Mikado" and was the original Yum Yum in the first Boston cast of that opera when Richard Mansfield appeared as Ko Ko. Her subsequent appearances included Hoyt's "A White Frog," "Said Pasha," and PixleyLuder's musical piece, "Woodland." After this last named engagement, she was absent from the stage until she went into "Chu Chin Chow."

Frank Mayo in "DR. JIM" IT'S A UNIVERSAL

SHIRLEY MASON IS AT THE ALHAMBRA

Shirley Mason, clever William Fox star is the Alhambra theater attraction for the two days beginning today and she is to be screened in Bert La Rue's famous story "Jane." Miss Mason has clever support, the following well-known players being in her cast—Raymond Kee, Francis Hatton, Edward Tilton, Mathilde Brundage, Wilson Mummell, Harold Goodwin, Charles Jaffey, Corean Kirkham and others.

As Marie Gautier, a little French girl, and Raymond McKee as a young marquis, but his ancient and honored title no barrier to the true love each other felt for the other. While his noble family frowns on the alliance, the god of love finds a way to circumvent the century-old obstacles and bring them together. A comedy is also shown.

R. C. WEEK WITH SPLENDID PICTURES.

Many local movie enthusiasts are anxiously awaiting the beginning of R-C Week, during which the producers of R-C pictures are offering $1,000 in cash prizes for the best fifty letters about R-C Pictures. The management of the Grand theater will gladly supply full details to all who ask for them. Ideas, not literary style, are the basis of judgment, so all who can think have a chance to win.

SHIRLEY MASON HERE IN NEW FOX PICTURE.

Manager W. H. Shull of the Gem theater has secured for Friday a most interesting story called "The Lamplighter." It was produced by William Fox and has for its star winsome little Shirley Mason, whose great successes in "Wing Toy," "Her Elephant Man" and "Love's Harvest" are matters of screen history.

The story of "The Lamplighter," in which sheer beauty of narrative and sustained tension mark it as an exceedingly fine piece of screen writing, is from the pen of Maria Susanna Cummins. This talented author has supplied Miss Mason with a vehicle that promises delight for her large army of admirers.

MIX TO BE SEEN AS CHAMPION RESCUER.

When Tom Mix opens at the Alhambra theater, on Monday next, in Fox picture "The Big Town Round-Up," he will exhibit what is held to be an exceedingly fine line of rescue work. The "Round-Up" in which the action switches from a ranch to 'Frisco and back again, is crowded, of course, with thrilling incident—else it would not be a Mix entertainment. Among the thrills are a number due to rescue work.

For example, Mix rescues a girl from a ruffian's insults by throwing the ruffian off a speeding train. He rescues this same girl later from a bunch of city thugs in a cafe. He rescues the heroine from a big rattlesnake on his ranch by his accurate long distance aim with a rifle. He rescues her again in the city when she falls before a stampeding steer at the stockyards. And he saves from death in a city park a little girl who is hanging head down on her runaway pony. Also he is kept tolerably busy rescuing himself from his enemies.

STONE DRUNK ON TEA IN BIG FILM.

In the making of "The Ranger and the Law" Lester Cuneo's great success which comes to the Grand theater on today and tomorrow, a funny incident occurred.

The picture deals with the activities of a gang of bootleggers, operating in an isolated spot in the west. Naturally, with bootleggers in the picture, it was necessary to show some whiskey, and its terrible effect on the brutes who formed the bootlegging gang. Now, since a year or so ago, whiskey, in any quantity is hard to get—and the federal authorities kept an eye specially peeled towards this picture as its nature suggested moonshine, and moonshine is the federal man's deadly enemy—at least that's what they say.

Therefore it was necessary to provide something that looked like whiskey, and our old Chinese friend, Oo Long Tea stepped into the breech. In one scene particularly several flasks of tea were in evidence, and it was pitiable to see strong men defiling themselves by hungarily lapping it up. It was pitiable to see its deadly effect upon them.

"FOR THOSE WE LOVE," AT THE AUDITORIUM.

"For Those We Love," the new Betty Compson picture released by Goldwyn, which is now being shown at the Auditorium theater, is a story of the struggle of a gambler to live up to the opinion that a simple country girl has of him. Knowing nothing of his means for earning a livelihood, she accepts him as a courageous man, after he has saved her life. And later, when she learns what his habits are, her unfailing faith in the inherent fineness of his nature gives birth to the desire on his part to live up to his better self.

Betty Compson as the girl, and Lon Chaney as the gambler, give fine performances and though the gambler loses the girl in the end, his life of noble self-sacrifce has not been in vain. Through her, he has come to know himself.

The story was written by Perley Poore Sheehan and directed by Arthur Rosson.

Buster Keaton in "The Scarecrow" a two-reel comedy written and directed by Buster Keaton and Eddie Cline and turned to high-speed fun-making with a gigle every second, is an added feature together with the Fox News Weekly. This program is seen today only.

TROPIC MOON HAS MUCH TO ANSWER FOR.

Love-making not to the hero's nor Cupid's liking is a feature of the action in "Dr. Jim," the Universal photodrama starring Frank Mayo, which may be seen at the Alhambra theater on Sunday.

A yellow moon in tropical seas develops strange emotions on the part of the woman of the story, who is the wife of an eminent surgeon whose broken down health compelled a long sea voyage.

The only woman on the ship, she is completely at the mercy of an inhuman captain and a gang of cutthroats—and doesn't know enough of life to realize it! Her husband is sick, lying defenseless in a steamer chair, and she spends her time leaning on the rail of the slow moving schooner and listening to the crudely, masterfully eloquent words of the brute in whose hands her very life is lightly held!

It is one of the strongest pictures of poorly balanced marriage that has come to the screen in months, and the situations are unusual.

BATH ROOM DE LUXE LENDS BEAUTY.

Although it was announced that "Saturday Night," Cecil B. DeMille's latest Paramount picture, was not a bathing beach picture and would not contain a bathroom scene despite the soap-and-water atmosphere of the title, the temptation to film such a setting evidently proved too strong for the producer. "Saturday Night," which will be shown at the Auditorium theater Sunday, boasts of a bathroom that surpasses those in "Male and Female" and "Why Change Your Wife?" in both beauty and opulence.

One of the unique features of this bathroom is an inverted shower bath. It consists of a pedestal standing in a sunken bowl. Around the edge of the pedestal are inlets through which the water is sprayed upward over the bather. The height of this spray can be regulated so that it will not mar milady's coiffure. Another interesting departure is a built-in, triple-mirror dressing table of unusual design and ultra complete equipment.

INSISTED ON BORROWING MISS COWL'S GOWN.

It's a hundred to one shot that this young bride-to-be doesn't consider herself a common little beggar, and that she wouldn't dream of asking a woman in any other profession than that of the theater for clothes.

A somewhat similar example relates to Jane Cowl, star of "Smilin' Through." Another young woman about to be married—wrote Miss Cowl a less pleading, but more peremptory demand for the beautiful wedding dress she wears during her impersonations of Moonyeen Clare, the bride of fifty years ago whose love story is one of the dual romances of the play. This gown is of the hoop-skirted style of that yesteryear, an exquisite creation of silver cloth and lovely old lace.

Miss Cowl's correspondent said that she had made up her mind since seeing "Smilin' Through" that her wedding would be most incomplete unless she could be married in Moonyeen Clare's wedding dress, and there was nothing anywhere to indicate that she considered that she was asking so much as a favor of Miss Cowl in demanding the loan of the dress in question. In fact the tone was one of condescension, as I'm doing you a favor to wear your old dress attitude!

This exacting attitude extends sometimes, but less often, to producers themselves. As an example, an entirely upknown man called up the Selwyn theater, New York, shortly after the production of "Smilin' Through" and asked a member of that producing firm to 'send the photographs of the garden and cottage" which is the scenic investiture for that play. He said he was going to build a cottage like it.

ADMIRABLE WORK BY DIRECTOR BORZAGE.

Frank Borzage, noted screen director, who won an international reputation when he supervised the production of "Humoresque" from the story by Fannie Hurst, has done another notable piece of work in "The Duke of Chimney Butte," in which Fred Stone, the famous musical comedy comedian, appears on the screen of the Grand theater Sunday and Monday.

Borzage knows the West like a book and as all of the action of "The Duke of Chimney Butte" takes place in the open country of Wyoming, you may rest assured the picture is well done. Seldom, in fact, has a picture of this type run so true as "The Duke of Chimney Butte," both as to story and the types of which the cast is composed. It's an R. C. picture.

INDIGESTION GASES GNAWED AT LINING OF HIS STOMACH

Food Failed to Digest—Soured And Bloated Him.

OHIO DRUGGIST GAVE HIM RELIEF.

"I suffered terribly from indigestion. Food soured on my stomach—failed to digest— caused gases to bloat me up and force me to belch for hours at a time. It burned like a mustard plaster inside of me I got so I couldn't eat anything and I would be in misery when I had to go out and do a hard day's work.

"A druggist here had known many people to get relief by taking tablets of pure Phos-Pho Vitamine. He advised me to try it and they certainly made a difference in the way I felt. They were simply splendid for indigestion and put my stomach in condition to get the real norishment from my food. My appetite took on a new edge and my digestion kept getting better every day. Before I could realize it I was setting down to the heartiest kind of meals and afterwards feeling fine—No more burning, bloating gases. I feel a hundred per cent more like work and can finish a day at the mine and come home feeling fresh and well enough to enjoy the evening," said Lester Baab, foreman of the Marie Hill Mine, Barton, Ohio.

Phos-Pho Vitamine is not a patent medicine. Your own druggist is featuring it and countless numbers are being relieved of a stomach trouble by taking tablets of genuine Phos-Pho Vitamine. It is a modern, powerful, nutritive and up-to-date pharmaceutrical product of the nationally known Irving Laboratory, which assures the customary highest quality and purity. These little tablets cost only a mere trifle and are so pleasant to take. Just ask for Irving's Phos-Pho Vitamine at Eman's drug store on the way home to supper tonight.

PRINCESS MARY'S WEDDING PLANS ARE BEING MADE

London, Feb. 3.—Arrangements for Princess Mary's wedding to Viscount Lascelles at Westminster Abbey the last week in February are beginning to take form.

The Lord Chamberlain, the Duke of Atholl, has been commissioned by the King to draw up a sketch of the proposed ceremonial and the State Chamberlain, Sir Douglas Dawson, will prepare the program.

The sending out of 2,000 invitations is the task of the Ceremonial Department at St. James' Palace. A fortnight's notice is usually considered sufficient for such occasions. The King and Queen as a rule invite personally their own relatives from abroad.

Not all the guests at Westminster Abbey will be able to see the wedding ceremony. The choir and the transepts will be set apart for the royal family, the diplomatic corps, personal friends of the Viscount and Princess and the members of the royal households and suites. The others will have to be content with a view of the procession.

The wedding will be solemnized by the Archbishop of Canterbury, or in his absence, by the Archbishop of York.

A wedding reception will probably be held in the ballroom at Buckingham Palace, at which the famous royal gold plate service will be displayed.

The confectionary for all the state functions is made by the confectioners at the Palace and it is presumed they will make the wedding cake.

Concert of Glee Club This Evening

The Denison Glee club will entertain with a concert at the First M. E. church this evening. It was incorrectly announced that the concert was to have been last night.

NOW SHE DESIGNS THE "CHICKEN STYLES"

Doris Reid.

New York, Feb. 3.—Miss Doris Reid is a designer of "chicken styles."

"It started on Sunday—oh, fully ... years ago!" says Ruth Reid, who is slim and tall and blond. "I decided on Sunday that I must have a career and that New York was the place to find it.

"By Wednesday I was in New York—had come all the way from Toronto, my home. And for two months I walked the streets looking for a job.

"Finally I got one with the Selwyns in "Rock-a-bye Baby." I couldn't dance and I couldn't sing. But I held that job one season and then was out looking again.

"Edna Wallace Hopper found me a place as stock girl in a gown shop.

"There," Miss Reid laughed, "I made the mistake of trying to sell when I was supposed to just do the slavey's work. Fired again!

"Next I went to Lucille's and was given a position modeling.

"I was there probably a year when I decided that it wasn't the stage, it wasn't selling, it wasn't modeling that I wanted to do but that I wanted to take the colors and design the gowns myself!

"So with one customer I gave up my job and started to make that one dress in my bedroom!"

"Of course, the moral of this all is," says Miss Reid, "that girls shouldn't lose courage when they fail at one thing, because it probably isn't the thing they are best adapted to anyhow.

"Color and line mean something to me.

"For instance, lavender is the color ofr sports wear. Why? Because in for sport wear. Why? Because in light, airy, easy. Translate those three words into color and you have lavendar!

"Blue, in almost any tone except baby blue, is the color for morning wear—there's composure about blue, starts the day well.

"Mulberry and the new, very vivid tones or red are the colors for the woman who would fascinate. They arrest, they hold attention.

"Black and white are good for evening attire for the mature woman who would create a sense of well being; pure white for the youthful woman who would make her youthfulness her chief charm.

"Green—wear green when you're feeling a bit stupid and brown when you feel too frivolous. They're balancers."

CHICKEN STYLE TIPS FOR LITTLE WOMEN.

(By DORIS REID.)

Wear the quaint.

Wear tight bodices, well cut. Small women wear them better than large women.

Wear no draping from the shoulder.

Wear distinct waist line effects.

Wear irregular hem lines until they are hopelessly out of date! The more points the better.

ENDEAVORERS TO GIVE A PLAY ON SUNDAY NIGHT

The missionary committee of the Christian Endeavor society will present a play entitled "The Pill Bottle" at the Central Church of Christ, Sunday evening. It embraces a cast of twenty-four characters with four scenes. The play shows a striking contrasts between the happy, carefree girls of the American college and the poor superstitious people Barbara finds in India. They are bound by custom and teaching to their false gods and superstitions.

The first scene shows the graduates of an American college the characters being taken by Marie Baird, Dorothy Dennis, Margaret Smith and Thelma Ewers.

The second is in India two months later with Earl Cree, Dove Rodeniser, Dwight Holland, Earle Stevens, and Edward Higginbotham in the cast.

The third scene shows four years later in India. The characterizations will be given by Zona Tavener, Oma Lafever, Ashley, Rodeniser, Thelma Ewers, Myra Billman, Dorothy Dennis, Gertrude Young, Pauline McCreary, Stella Timmon, Hooper McGirr, Margaret Smith, Earle Stevens, Florence Bonham, Lulu Host and Mina Pletcher. The fourth scene will be "The God of the Pill Bottle."

The play will be given at seven o'clock, Taking the place of the regular church services. No admission will be charged, and a general invitation is issued.

Grand Jury Warns Women Bridge Fans

Dublin, Georgia, Feb. 3.—Feminine bridge enthusiasts at Dublin were given formal warning by the Laurens county grand jury today that their alleged practice of playing bridge for prizes must cease, under pain of prosecutions for gambling.

The King's Heralds of the First M. E. church will meet at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the church.

2000 Flappers at University of California

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 3.—Approximately 2,000 "flappers" are on the University of California student rolls, Miss Mary Ide Bentley, former secretary of the San Francisco Young Women's Christian Association, declared in an address here.

"Flappers," Miss Bentley said, "usually are girls who believe personality is physical, who consider all advice as abstract, who love continual change, who converse in generalities and who are in many higher institutions of learning.

"To present a picture of the normal girls as she exists today is a daring venture," Miss Bentley added. "She has no average, she has no group tie. She is a stranger to herself—sometimes especially to members of her own family—and cannot be compared with her kind of a previous age.

"We are tempted to think of her as living in a spirit of masquerade so rapidly and completely can she assume different and difficult roles of accomplishment.

"She tantilizes us by the simpleness of the artfulness and yet unrealness. We find her light-hearted, which is the privilege of youth. She believes with Stevenson that 'to have missed the joy is to have missed it all. We find her harboring secrets and imbedded emotions which are her hidden treasure in the mysterious discovery of herself as a private individual. If we do not understand these symptoms we call it temperament and try to dispose of the girl as difficult or as "needing discipline."'"

Artists' Recital By the Woman's Music Club

Notable selections formed the program given by the Woman's Music club Thursday afternoon at Taylor hall. The guest artist of the afternoon was Mrs. Frank H. Raifsnyder of Crestline, mezzo soprano, and the club artists were Mrs. W. L. Grieser, pianist, and Mrs. C. F. Lytle, pianist

Mrs. Raifsnyder has a voice strong, clear and sympathetic and her program, abounding in variety, carried her audience with so much enthusiasm that she was compelled to respond to two encores to one group. Her first group captivated the adience with ballads from the best composers. Especial mention should be made of MacFayden's "Love Is the Wind," Brahe's "I Passed by Your Window." In her second group, "Harbour's Night Song" of Sanderson, "The Last Hour" of Kramer, so beautifully interpreted, her enunciation so distinct her diction. Her brilliant "My Love Is Muleteer" of Di Nogero, and her encores were gems.

Rarely has Newark heard anyone, so gifted in ability, vocal variety and tender sympathy. Mrs. Grieser at the piano supported the singer most artistically.

Mrs. W. L. Grieser, pianist, gave her group faithful consideration in preparing it an played a Mozart Debussy and Gilbert group, with beautiful interpretation, style and poise, and is a pianist of fine ability.

Mrs. C. Friedrick Lytle shared honors with Mrs. Grieser in her group of Grieg, Sibelius and Mac Dowell, which, from a rhythmic standpoint, was especially well done, beautifully interpreted and she also is a pianist of much ability.

The club is proud of the two artists.

After the recital about forty students of music assembled to be tryed out to form a Junior Music club which will be composed of boys and girls, and will be a valuable asset to Newark.

MRS. HOOVER HEADS SCOUTS

Mrs. Herbert Hoover.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover of Washington, D. C., who was elected president of the National Council of Girl Scouts, at its eighth annual convention in Savannah, Ga., January 26, is the wife of the secretary of commerce. During the ensuing year she will bend every effort to building up this beneficial organization, which now numbers over 110,000.

Following her election Mrs. Hoover told newspaper men she wished to stress the great need for more young women captains, declared she had been a scout in spirit and practice since at an early age she went on many a long camping trip with her father in California and told why the movement should receive the support of every parent of scout age.

"I want to bring to the attention of the women of this country the fact that we are in serious need of captains for our troops," said Mrs. Hoover. "We want at this moment 10,000 women, capable and intelligent and at least 21 years of age, who are willing to fit themselves to take charge of troops. Right now over 100,000 girls are anxious to join the scouts, but we cannot take them because of this lack of leaders. In another six months there will be need of another 10,000 captains. The life of the Girl Scout movement has not been long enough to provide enough alumnae for the work, so we must seek our captains from new material."

BITS OF KNOWLEDGE.

Fresh tuna fish is delicious baked, broiled or fried. Canned tuna makes excellent salad.

If there is any bacon left over use it as a seasoning for vegetable salad. Grate and sprinkle it over the salad just before serving. It makes a delicious addition to the salad.

Use a clean whiskbroom for sprinkling clothes. This does the work and keeps the hands dry.

All kinds of outdoor flowers and vegetables can be started in the house with very few exceptions. Paper pots should be used which can be set in the ground without disturbing the roots.

To repair reed or fibre furniture, brace the split or broken reed with a piece of wire or a match; wrap tightly with raffia, beginning at the bottom or inside and winding toward the border, where a neat fastening by spreading the raffia into a bodkin and sewing or tieing it through the weaving of the reed.

A DIRT REMOVER.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will dress, for the street, so as to pass unobserved—in a manner not to attract attention.

You will, when hostess, dress somewhat more simply than your guests are likely to.

You will, if a Miss, wear little jewelry to a ball.

FROM MOTHER'S COOK BOOK

Roquefort Cheese Dressing.

Two tablespoons Roquefort cheese, 1 tablespoon neufchatel cheese, 3 tablespoons oil, 3 dessertspoons vinegar, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, dash mustard, paprika.

Put cheese in a bowl and work in oil with a fork until the mixture is creamy. Beat in vinegar and seasoning and serve at once. The vinegar should be very cold.

When making French dressing add a small piece of ice while mixing. A little chunk of ice added to the combination dressing makes the dressing stiffer.

Beef Stew.

Have meat boned but not rolled. Cut in pieces 1½ inches thick. Dredge with flour and salt well mixed and brown quickly on all sides. Add boiling water to cover and simmer for an hour. Then add 3 cups diced potatoes, 2 cups diced carrots, ½ cup diced turnips, 1 tablespoon minced parsley and ½ teaspoon salt, 2 cups boiling water. Cook an hour longer, adding more water if necessary but not enough to make the stew thin.

The woman who cooks on a coal stove will find these ways of cooking meat very satisfactory and the amount of gas used is practically the same as when meat is cooked at a higher temperature for a shorter length of time.

TOMATO CAN OVEN USED.

A correspondent in Popular Science Monthly has found that an old tomato can inverted over a small baking dish on a steel plate on the simmering burner of a gas range makes a satisfactory oven for small amounts of baking.

POLLY and PAUL ...and PARIS

By Zoe Beckley

CHAPTER XXII
THE CAFE DE PARIS.

With the dressing room door locked, Polly huddled in a wretched heap on the floor of the big wardrobe and cried till her handkerchief was used up. Then she wiped her eyes and nose on the frill of her petticoat that hung conveniently near—and cried some more.

Paul had rapped on the door in vain, had called her, had entreated her to forgive him, to let him explain about the dress, to put it on and let him see how lovely it really was.

Polly wept herself tired and, womanlike, felt better. She sat up, brushed back her hair, emerged from the clothespress and wondered if Paul, disgusted, had gone out, he was so still. Then she heard a small scratching at the door, and a lifelike "Meow-meow—"

She couldn't help laughing, and the laugh relaxed and restored her. She opened the door and the 'cat' folded her in a warm hug.

"I was a pig and a brute and a silly ass," said Paul contrite. "I'm a fool about dresses, Mousie. I only know you would look like a peach if you wore [illegible] pink hopsack [illegible] with piped [illegible] and purple [illegible] down the sides."

"Then why sh[ou]ld I spend a lot of money—" Polly's voice still caught a bit breathlessly, "on really nice things when you don't even—[know] they're nice?"

"[Beca]use, my precious child, wo[men dress] for other women, not for the[ir hus]bands. If the [illegible] girl at the Cafe de Paris turns Nile green when she sees it it's a humdinger. The[y] tell me she knows more about sw[ell] rags than anyone in Gay [Paree]."

[Fr]om the outside, the Cafe de P[aris did]n't look so wonderful. But [inside] —it was like stepping into a [illegible] golden jewelcasket. Thick gold brocade curtains covered the windows. A deep yellow carpet was under foot. The tables glittered [wi]th glass and silver damask [illegible] daffodils, reflected in [illegible]

[illegible] swept [illegible] glance— [illegible] whis[pered] [illegible] to them [illegible] passed the [illegible] some. It was [illegible] came con[illegible] room. He [illegible] when Pol[ly] [illegible] A vase [illegible] face of the woman he was with. But presently Polly saw the very annoyed countenance of Violet Rand peer around the blossoms.

As plainly as though she had spoken Violet's eyes said "Well—if it isn't that little Mrs. Dawson my man is staring at with such interest! And in a frock that would do credit to—me! Where did she get it? It looks like a Paverel. It is a Paverel! And she achieved it without any help from me. It's positively amazing how smart she looks."

At the end of the meal the waiter brought you a silver tray two glasses of some shining syrup, orange-gold and delicious looking.

"From the lady and gentleman at the other table."

Polly and Paul looked over. Miss Rand and her escort held two similar glasses and were smiling a toast at them.

"To the dress!" formed Violet's lips.

But in the face of the man Polly saw not admiration of her pretty clothes, but of herself—th[e] woman.

CHAPTER XXIII
SPEEDING UP

"Come on dear they're signaling us to join them at the[ir table]. Let's go over. After all, Violet's a good sort and the man with her looks right enough. What do you say?"

"I say yes let's." A warmth had come into Polly's veins. The golden room the scent of flowers the music the delicious food and the li[ttle] taste of wine Paul had insisted on made her blood move quic[ker]. She felt well dressed and confident. L[ife] sang.

Miss Rand greeted them cordially, especially Paul. She presented [her escort] "Monsieur Barray—I call [him] 'Monsieur' because he has adopted France as his native land," laughed Violet.

"France adopted my father before I had any say in the matter," he answered her, but he looked at Polly. "My father was French. He went [to America] and my mother American. She [came from] the state you call In[diana] [illegible] I always picture it as [illegible] ful of Indians."

[Po]lly laughed and felt instantly friendly.

"Why that's my state, too! Nearly all my people come from there. Howdy do Friend!" And Polly reached her hand across the table impulsively.

He grasped it cordially and held it just an instant longer than he need. Violet laughed less naturally than the rest.

"Speaking of Indiana, my dear what a pretty frock. I declare they do them awfully well in your town. If you told me you got it in New York I'd almost believe it. It's a nice little dress."

What did disturb Polly was that Paul obviously was impressed by Violet's [illegible] Polly could read [illegible] [illegible] So Violet thinks the [illegible] is a[n] [illegible] smalltown [illegible] It wasn't much of a dress [illegible] [illegible] knows about these [illegible] [illegible] And she pa[illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Violet [illegible] despite Paul, [illegible] her own earlier misgivings, Polly told herself she could choose between two lines of behaviour. She could [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] Miss Rand [illegible] own is pretty clever. It got a Paverel's. Mon[sieur] Paverel him[self] supervised it. You told me once you could always spot a Paverel." Then, turning upon [him] her [pret]tiest smile (Polly's smile was [illegible]) she added "You like [illegible] [illegible]?"

"[illegible] the most distinguished [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] act—if you [illegible] [illegible] remarked upo[n] [illegible] when you came in. No one [illegible] think years beautiful clothes with such distinction as the American girl."

Tactfully he proposed a toast to "The American Girl" and the clash was over. Barray and Polly kept the [ba]ll of merriment rolling, and when the diners began to thin out and Violet spoke of going, Barray cut in with an emphatic

"Not till I have the promise of all of you to lunch tomorrow at d'Armenonville! I won't take no for [an an]swer. Come now one two [three]—"

"Y[es]," Polly's voice alone responded.

"Good! You're answering for all!" Violet looked stormy.

"Sorry," she said rising, "I have an engagement."

"It's mighty fine of you," said Paul, "but I've a business appointment outside of Paris."

"[The]n just Madame. I challenge [you] [illegible] you [illegible] old gentleman—[wo]uld you be bored with him?"

Polly glanced at Paul but he was talking to Violet.

"I accept the challenge," she said demurely, "and will risk—being bored."

Says Hot Water Is Aid to Beauty

(By EDITH KING)
(Leading Woman in "Thank You" at the Longacre theater, New York)

Hot water, inside and out. If there's anything at all that will keep a skin looking all glowy and soft and lovely it is plenty of hot water to drink and plenty of warm water to wash it with.

I've watched it with so many girls, that I've followed the trick myself.

Haven't a bit of use for this greasy cold cream way of cleaning skin. Of course must have cold cream to protect the skin and I do use it to help in the removal of paint after a performance but when it comes to real soil—nothing in all the world like soap and warm water.

Same Regards for Hair.

A skin which doesn't get its warm water bath must sooner become thick and saggy looking instead of transparent and exquisite as skin really should be.

I have the same theory in regard to hair—wash it as often as it needs it—which most of the time in particular is once every two weeks.

Tea and coffee I avoid. They tend to make one [illegible] and jangling nerves mean wrinkles. A disturbed condition of the mind will spoil the nicest kind of a skin—beauty isn't any matter of magic. Can't eat too many sweets—mean a splotchy skin, pimples perhaps! And a shiny nose!

Fried foods I almost never eat—something else that isn't good for the skin or the digestion. Fruits are really the thing I eat the most of.

Two meals a day are quite enough for a stage person.

Strong for Walking.

And I don't believe in dawdling! Spoil the finest figure and most beautiful skin in the world. Keep eternally doing, accomplishing while you're up and about and then when you rest, rest every bit of the way. Don't mix either the resting or the working or the playing half way.

Walking is the only exercising I do—that because I have time for nothing else. And I think for the busy girl who would keep in trim nothing is better than brisk walking in the open air.

PRINCESS IS SAD BECAUSE SHE CAN'T BE JUST PLAIN GIRL

Rome, Feb 3—(By NEA Service) —If you were a royal princess would your great desire in life be to have a little home of your own, make your own clothes cook your own meals—be just a simple housewife?

How many young girls who have to perform those services have dreamed of the joy of being a royal princess?

And yet the most beautiful princess in the world, as Yolanda of Italy is known, is credited with being sad because she is a princess!

All she really wants, so she tells her intimates, is to live quietly just like a simple middle-class girl.

Devoted to Parents.

First of all she is devoted to her father and mother, her sisters and brothers. Of course, all the world is talking about the rumor of Yolanda's engagement to the heir of the Belgian throne.

The Italian royal family is noted as being the most democratic, the most "bourgeois" in its happy home life of all kingly circles.

Queen Helena, who has brought up her children just as any unroyal mother of the middle class would do, has never scorned being a regular housewife. King Victor Emmanuel doesn't mind letting the world know that his greatest joy is in the simple home pleasures.

As for the Princess Yolanda, she trims her own hats, makes her own blouses, her own underwear. Her greatest delight is when she plays at mothering her favorite sister, little Princess Maria, and is permitted to make her clothes for her.

Likes Real Picnics

Yolanda can cook spaghetti better than a chef. Her happiest days are when the royal family, free from servants, motors to one of their country places near Rome and has a real "American picnic."

During the war Yolanda worked in hospitals. One of her great friends was former Ambassador to Italy, Thomas Nelson Page. She used to ask him tireless questions about American girls. In the royal library are many books beloved of Yolanda, presented to her by this author diplomat.

Yolanda is a little princess who doesn't want to grow up even to be come a queen.

If she were to change places with some American girl who longs to be a royal princess, she could take charge of an American home, from cooking, cleaning to darning and dressmaking in a way to put the modern American flapper to shame.

KEEPING CHEESE FRESH.

Wrap cheese in a cloth moistened with cold vinegar. This will prevent it from becoming dry or mouldy.

WHY ARE SOME WOMEN POPULAR,

happy, beloved and successful, while others drag out a negative existence, of no use to themselves or anyone else? Except in a few cases the answer is to be found in a state of freedom from the troubles known as "female." The well woman radiates cheerfulness and serenity, while the ailing one repels because of her lack of these qualities. It is not necessary, however, to harbor aches and pains, and the "blues" that make one a detriment to society. The use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought relief to such women, and given them a new lease on life.

Spring Suits Include Flare Types

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

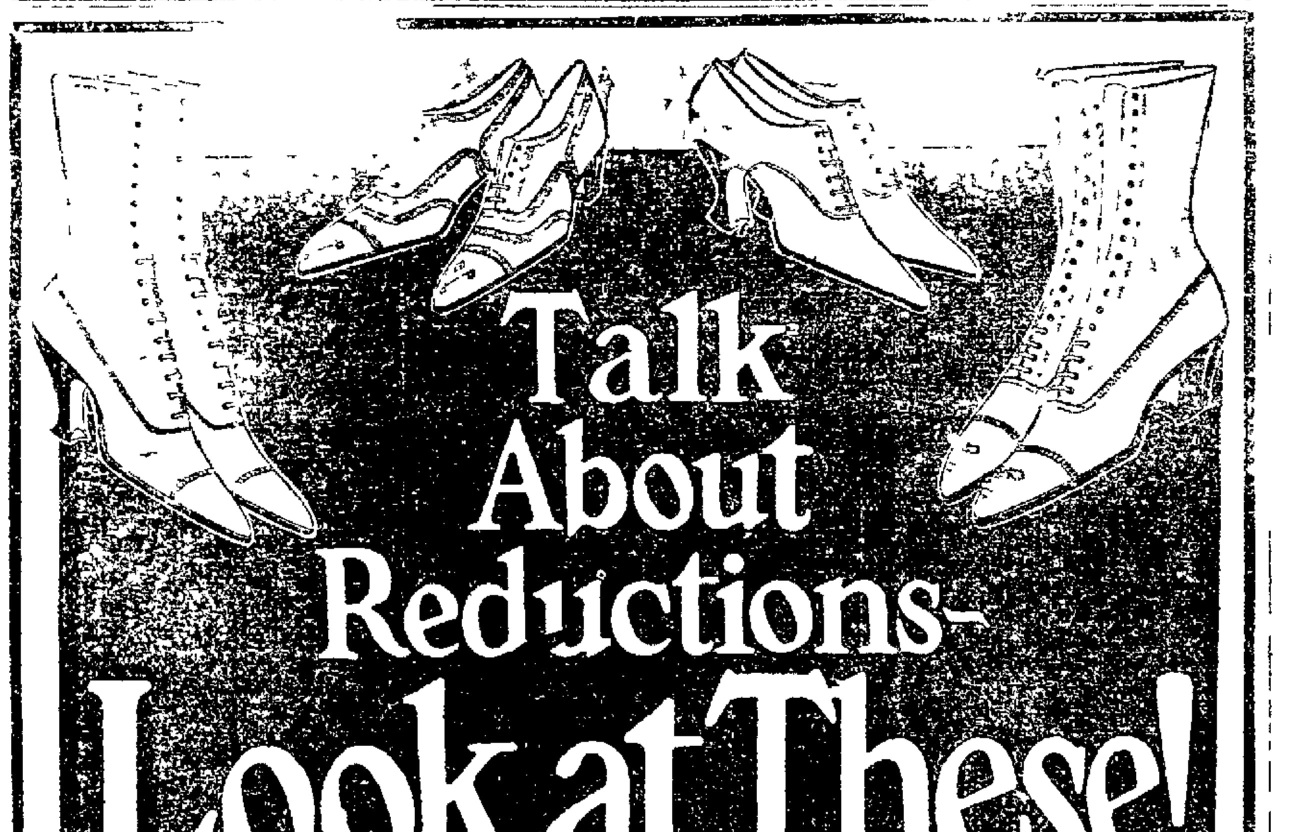

OFTEN we hear in spring or fall of a resolution to try to get along without a suit for the season, but the American woman knows too well the becomingness, the convenience, and the satisfaction of a smart suit to go long without one.

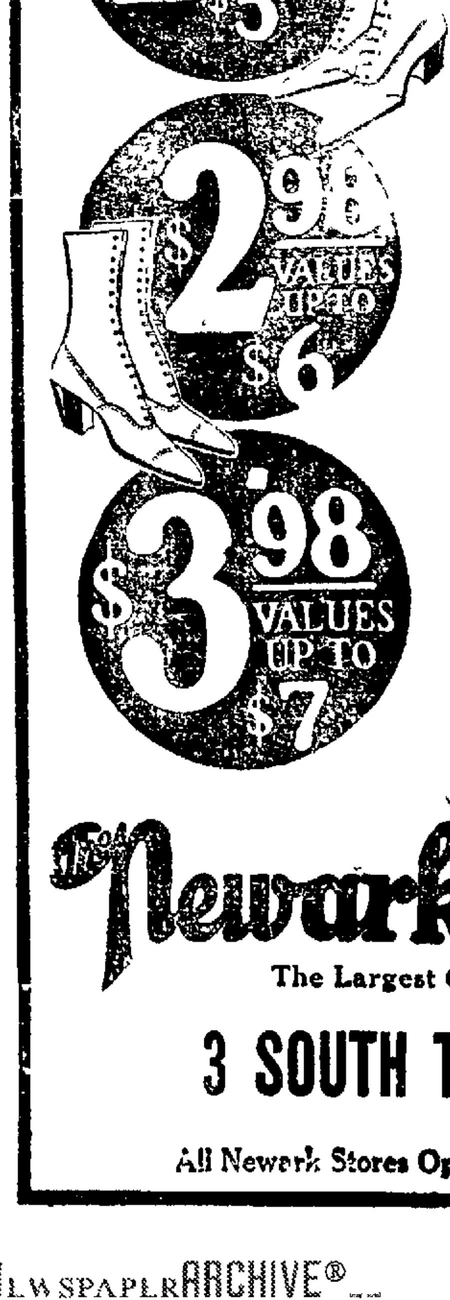

The soft, wool fabrics so exquisite in color and texture that adorn the counters in the up-to-date stores lend themselves admirably to suit-making, especially when decorated with attractive braid. And the making of suits is no longer tedious. To develop the one pictured here, for instance, is not difficult. The soft, easy lines, the dress sleeves, and the collar are as easy to develop as those for a dress, especially when one first bastes up a guide model coat of muslin and determines whether the length and fulness are exactly right for individual becomingness.

The skirts of the spring suits are a bit narrower, that is, they measure from 52 to 60 inches at the lower edge. This, of course, is inevitable with the added length, which is not much but is noticeable, considering the extremely short skirts of last season.

Pretty, well-kept hands are required with the plain wrist finish or peasant influence that is evident in many of the sleeves.

The hat shown is of black, shiny braid with satin trimmings.

No Disappointments

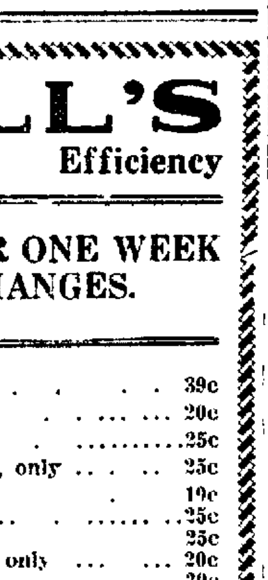

Millions of housewives use Calumet Baking Powder because of its dependability—because when they place their baking in the oven, they know it will "turn out" all right. They are confident of results because they know that no matter what they bake—pies, cakes, biscuits, muffins—the results will be the same—light, perfectly raised, wholesome foods.

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

never disappoints. Don't prepare bakings with expensive ingredients and then have them spoiled because of an inferior leavener.

Have the same assurance that the majority of other housewives have.

A pound can of Calumet contains full 16 ounces. Some baking powders come in 12 ounce instead of 16 ounce cans. Be sure you get a pound when you want it.

ATTENDANCE IN SCHOOLS GOOD

Both High School and the Grades Maintain Good Record During Last Month, Report Shows.

Although Newark schools have passed through an epidemic of children's diseases, the report for the month ending last Friday indicates good average attendance during January. In the grade schools the percentage was 92 and in the high school 95. This compares favorably with the attendance a year ago.

The report for January is very good considering the prevalence of diphtheria and scarlet fever, said Supt. Barnes. "The figures show a slight increase over that of last year in the per cent of attendance. [illegible] slight decrease [illegible] more children [illegible] year than [illegible] month of January last year.

The teachers' reports show 92 visits made at [illegible], 251 visits to [illegible], 23 visits by [illegible] superintendent and 511 visits by the principals.

RED CROSS TELLS OF WORK DONE IN YEAR

Three nurses are [illegible] Licking County [illegible] Red Cross, [illegible] Fell, with [illegible] Fritzler and Miss [illegible] Dowd is assigned to tubercular cases only her salary being paid by the Federation [illegible] other expenses [illegible] the Red Cross.

In the [illegible] not the aim to [illegible] has not time [illegible] medical and preventive work [illegible] has kept [illegible] and many have been answered.

During the year between November 1, 1920, and November 1, 1921 school children were inspected [illegible] of them were found to have some defect, 10 per cent were underweight, 2160 written reports were made to parents and 2180 home visits made. Several hundred of these defects have been corrected.

The tubercular [illegible] family finds [illegible] nursing care where [illegible] medical and hospital care and [illegible] preventive measures to those exposed. During the year there were 124 active cases of tuberculosis in Licking county that came under the observation of the Red Cross nursing service, 87 of these being in Newark. This means that more than 300 have been exposed, many of them children.

The other nurses have worked with the health commissioner through all of the contagious epidemics, beginning with the Croton smallpox epidemic. They assisted in vaccinating more than 200, in giving anti-toxin to 211, and in taking 60 to 70 diphtheria cultures a day.

The nurses are also cooperating with the Rotarians in discovering crippled children and taking them to Columbus for treatment. In some cases this means many trips.

They visit expectant mothers, giving them instruction in the care of themselves and of their infants. They hope to establish a baby clinic where mothers may bring their babies to be weighed and examined free of charge.

Patients were found and visits made in all parts of Licking county.

A statistical report of visits made during the year follows:

Number of nursing visits...... 673
Number of tuberculosis visits... 534
Number of social service visits. 712
Number of instructive visits.... 721
Number of home visits to school children...............2150

Total number of visits.......4256
Number of office consultations on health subjects............ 20[illegible]
Number of pieces of health literature distributed from the health centers more than....5000

The chapter here is asking Newark people to enlist with the Red Cross to help fight disease in Licking county. The dues are $1, payable at Red Cross office, 22 East Church street.

BIG COON WHIPS TWO HUNTING DOGS

One of the largest coons that has ever been taken by hunters in many a day was captured by William Mcbee on the last night of the coon season. The animal was brought to the ground, and succeeded in mastering two trained dogs, and then turned on the men.

Dressed, the coon resembles a pig. He will be sold on market.

TRINITY LUTHERAN PLANS BIG DINNER

Holy Trinity Lutheran church will hold its father and son banquet, in cooperation with the appeal being made by Wittenberg college, Monday evening at 6 o'clock. Members and friends of the church and Sunday school have been invited to bring their baskets and enjoy a picnic supper together in the church basement.

A special program has been arranged. The Women's Missionary society will give a short play. Several out of town speakers will be present for the occasion. Dr. F. P. [illegible] will speak [illegible] the brotherhood emphasizing its value and its program.

Dr. T. B. Birch, head of the department of phychology and pedagogy of Wittenberg college will speak about college training.

H. C. Roehner, pastor of the First Lutheran church of Mansfield, will make a plea for more young men for the ministry. Dr. Roehner will endeavor to impress his hearers with the great responsibility for work that rests upon the church at large, and make teh local congregation see its own obligation and seek a solution.

SCOUTS ASK GOOD TURN

They Want Men and Women of Newark to Be Scouts Next Week and Do a Good Turn Daily.

Will you be a good Scout? For 12 years the members of the Boy Scouts of America have practiced the doing of a good turn daily. Next week they are celebrating their birthday anniversary, and are asking that everyone adopt the custom for the week and pledge himself to "do a good turn daily." The badge of a good scout is the square knot, which will be presented at the various churches on Sunday and through other organizations, and the wearing of the square knot next week will designate that the wearer is a good scout, and that he is doing for this week what Boy Scouts have pledged themselves to do throughout the year.

In the 12 years that the Boy Scouts of America has been in existence they have grown from a few men who gathered in Washington to organize this movement, until today there are 403,102 nationally registered as members. In addition there are 35,671 scoutmasters and assistant scoutmasters. Besides these there are more than 84,000 men serving voluntarily in other capacities, troop committee-men, members of local councils, commissioners, members of courts of honor, etc., making a total of approximately 523,000 boys and men. This growth has been occasioned through the adherence to scout principles one of which is "doing a good turn daily." Newark Scouts ask, "will you therefore as a good American citizen pin on the square knot and go forth as a good scout to help in the celebration of this birthday anniversary?"

GIVES BONUS CHECK TO THE RED CROSS

Huntington, W. Va., Jan. 3.—In token of his belief that he owes his life to the Red Cross, Alex Harrison Crafts of Huntington, veteran of the 93d Aero Squadron, yesterday contributed $250 to the organization. The sum represented the bonus to be paid Crafts by the state of Ohio, where he enlisted, he told Red Cross workers.

Crafts was hit by shrapnel in the right arm and left leg. He is still under treatment. It was while stringing wire at Belleau Wood, October 3, 1918, that he was wounded.

PRIZE EVERY NIGHT AT EXPO

Five Big Donations Will Be Given Away Beginning Tuesday Night at Rotary Carnival.

Each admission ticket to the Newark Industrial exposition and carnival, which will be given all next week at the Newark Buick company building at 35 South Fourth street, will entitle the purchaser to a chance on one of the big capital prizes which will be given away free each night except Monday night.

Tuesday night a complete set of Pharis Paramold tires, donated by the Newark United Tire company of South Third street will be given to the lucky holder of the winning number. On Wednesday the Hoosier kitchen cabinet, donated by the Carlile Furniture company, will be given away, and on Thursday the Cardinal phonograph, donated by the Cardinal Phonograph company, whose factory is located at Zanesville, will be the big prize. Friday evening the U Z Way stove, manufactured and donated by the Wehrle company, will be the prize. Saturday night, the big carnival night, a set of Hesey glass ware will be given away.

Each admission ticket has a numbered stub to correspond with the number on the ticket and the drawing will be made each evening from the tickets collected at the door. Only the tickets taken in on one night will be good for the prize drawing for that night. That is after the drawing the stubs will be destroyed and the people who attend the next night will be the only ones who will have a chance for the prize to be given away that night. The holder of the lucky number must be in the building at the time the number is drawn or the right to the prize is forfeited and another number will be drawn.

The advance sale of admission tickets is large and the indications are that big crowds will greet the opening of the show Monday night at 7 o'clock. The exposition and carnival is being given under the auspices of the Newark Rotary club and all of the profits derived will go into the fund for the aid of the crippled children of Licking county.

WAS STOMACH TROUBLE THE CAUSE OF HIS HEADACHES?

Indigestion, Gases Forming After Meals Made Him Suffer

TOOK HYPO-COD TO GOT QUICK RELIEF

"I suffered from nervous and severe headaches a great deal of the time. After meals I would have so much gas on my stomach [illegible] would [illegible] cause it to flutter so badly. This indigestion, nervousness and headaches kept up and nothing seemed to cure them. Not until I started taking genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod did I get any real relief.

"I am now feeling as fine, with steady nerves and a hearty appetite. The digestion is splendid once more [illegible] I can sit down to the table and enjoy a nourishing meal and just feel fine afterwards. Those terrible headaches don't bother me any more and I can sleep well at nights. In the mornings when I get up for breakfast I feel fully refreshed. You [illegible] of Earle's Hypo-Cod," said Mr. John Compli[illegible], 246 Ga[illegible] Columbus.

"It surely did the things recommended for him," added Mrs. Com[illegible]man, his wife, "and I'm going to see that my daughter starts taking it. Lots of the neighbors say it's the best tonic they ever took."

The better drug stores here are featuring genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod because they have seen many such [illegible] from all parts of [illegible] come in to say how much better they feel. And it is but reasonable to suppose that Earle's Hypo-Cod can build up your own health so that you can feel at your [illegible]. It is certainly worth the trifling cost of genuine [illegible] of this powerful [illegible] appetite [illegible] building tonic show you how good you really can feel [illegible]. Just drop in one of the better drug stores and get a bottle of genuine Earle's Hypo-Cod [illegible] home tonight. You [illegible] pleasant flavor and can [illegible] follow the simple directions [illegible] in each Orange Colored Carton.

The Farmer Holds the Whip-Hand at Washington

To-day the American farmer strangely finds himself simultaneously at the ebb-tide of his economic fortune and at the flood-tide of his political power; and it is to his poverty that he owes the discovery and assertion of his strength. As a result of this paradox President Harding calls a great conference at Washington to devise ways to rescue our rural population from imminent disaster, and almost in the same breath protests against the domination of Congress by the agriculatural bloc. News dispatches describing the desperate plight of the farmer appear side by side with others averring that the farmer holds the whip at Washington as never before in the nation's history, and that his dictation amounts to a "super-government," an "invisible empire."

Senator Capper, of Kansas, in his publication, Capper's Weekly, says that "the farmers lost three and one-half billion dollars in 1921 in crop values alone compared with 1920, or eight billion dollars compared with 1919." "Concerning the grim reality of the present crisis in agriculture there can be no difference of opinion among informed people," declared President Harding. On the other side of the picture we see the agricultural bloc defying the "Old Guard," and disturbing the calculations of leaders in both parties. The symbol and instrument of their power is the famous "farm bloc," a group of Republican and Democratic Senators and Representatives who come from the agricultural sections of the West and South, and who are said to hold the balance of power in Congress.

The leading article in THE LITERARY DIGEST this week, February 4th, under the heading "The Farmer's Need and the Farmer's Power," presents in an illuminating way all phases of this subject, which is occupying so much attention.

OF PREHISTORIC RESEARCH VALUE IS FOX AND DEER

So Dr. Hadley Tells Academy of Sciences.

Based on Funds In La Brea Pits.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 3.—The prehistoric past of the fox, deer and antelope offer a field for fertile research as a result of finds in the famous La Brea pits, a tomb of half a million years, Dr. L. E. Hadley, local paleontologist told members of the Southern California Academy of Sciences. He reviewed the past a million or more years in which the mov[illegible] of the elephant or mastodon, the three toed horse or [illegible], the camel or camelops, the saber-toothed tiger or smilodon, and [illegible] were traced beyond the pleistocene age into the pliocene, miocene, oligocene and eocene periods of the [illegible] era.

While the horse, camel and elephant [illegible] remain they are very [illegible] to their ancestors [illegible] wiped out by [illegible] period when the [illegible] of the north swept [illegible] California that was not [illegible] and these prehistoric [illegible] the giant [illegible] extinct in this [illegible] of 30,000 years ago, [illegible] Hadley.

[illegible] back [illegible] eocene period a [illegible] or more years before, just [illegible] of the mesozoic age, [illegible] to giant animals, and [illegible] giant sloth of the pleistocene age was just a little armadillo [illegible] as [illegible] exists in South America, he said. The Imperial Elephant, more than twice the size of any existing today, also came from a little animal that probably was no larger than our horse of [illegible] today.

[illegible] sabe toothed tiger, several [illegible] of which were found in [illegible] was the most ferocious animal [illegible] world about a half million years ago, Dr. Hadley said.

[illegible] have been ascer[illegible] discovered about the [illegible] the American [illegible] antelope, d[illegible] It is [illegible] when the [illegible] contribute any [illegible] anything beyond the [illegible] Dr. Hadley said [illegible] have revealed more [illegible] served for the world a large [illegible] geological period [illegible] than any other [illegible] the world yet uncovered.

[illegible] has been much discussion [illegible] skull found in the La [illegible] Hadley said, but noted authorities have contended that it is only ten thousand years of age, and does not date back with the sloth and saber toothed tiger, but a tree has been found in the pits, a cypress, which is believed to have grown more than a quarter of a million years ago.

Dr Hadley said that none of these animals had been traced beyond the eocene age of the tertiary era, but geologists have gone back through mesozoic, carbonic, devonian, silurian eras to the ancient cambrian era which some say is a billion and a half years ago, and have provided a geological fund for paleontological research that does not promise to become exhausted.

WORD SOBER HAS LOST ITS STYLE

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 3.—Prohibition has rendered obsolete the word "sober," according to the city council here, and the term has been relegated to the scrap heap officially by that august body. The council recently in considering an automobile ordinance which provided that certain persons must be "sober and of good marol character," was surprised when one member objected strenuously to the inclusion of "sober."

"It is a reflection on the government and the constitution," the member said. "It recognizes a violation of the law, and since we have prohibition it has become obsolete."

The objection at first was not taken seriously but upon insistance the term was eliminated by a vote of 12 to 7.

A MESSAGE TO TIRED, SICK FOLKS

Don't Drag Through Life Half Sick and Half Well. Take This Advice.

Go to your druggist and ask him for Gude's Pepto Mangan and take it with your meals for a few weeks and see how your health improves. If you are pale tired, lack ambition and vigor, you know yourself that if you had plenty of red blood that you would not feel tired and half sick all the time. The only sure foundation of permanent health is good blood. Gude's Pepto-Mangan builds up your blood with a form of iron that gets into your system quickly. It is wonderful. You will like it and it will make you feel so well and strong. Life will be worth living again. Try it and you will thank us for telling you about it. Druggists sell Gude's Pepto Mangan in both liquid and tablet form.—Adv.

NOW ALL ABOARD BABIES FOR THE OLD ST. LOUIS

Say It's the Best of Larger Cities — Has Lowest Death Rate Among Infants.

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 3.—St. Louis is the healthiest of the larger cities for babies, declared Max C. Starkloff, health commissioner, today. Dr Starkloff made public figures showing that this city in 1921 had the lowest death rate among infants under 1year of age.

The health commissioner gave out a table showing the mortality rat per 1,000 infants in the various cities. The table he said was base on federal statistics and follows:

St. Louis	61.7
Cleveland	73.6
Philadelphia	76.[illegible]
Boston	76.0
Cincinnati	77.0
Washington	8[illegible]
Detroit	85.[illegible]
New York	85.[illegible]
Chicago	85
Baltimore	87.9
Pittsburgh	8[illegible]

Detroit had the lowest general death rate in 1921, according to other statistics presentd by Dr Starkloff. The follow:

Detroit	9.7
Cleveland	10.5
Chicago	11.1
New York	11.[illegible]
St Louis	12.0
Philadelphia	[illegible]2.7
Boston	13.[illegible]
Washington	13.[illegible]
Baltimore	1[illegible]
Pittsburgh	1[illegible]
Cincinnati	1[illegible]
New Orleans	1[illegible]

PARK ST. WOMAN TELLS HOW TO BECOME STRONG AND HEARTY

MRS ELEANOR GOSS, COLUMBUS, OHIO.

Well Known Columbus Woman Tells How She Overcame Obstinate Illness by Taking Kadok.

Mrs Eleanor Goss, living at 318 Park street, South Columbus, in telling of her experience with Kadok, says "After a long time I have been bothered with stomach trouble and after eating would suffer from indigestion and miserable bloating pains. I also had liver and kidney trouble and I was very nervous; I was always constipated and a number of these spots showed on my neck. I felt despondent and miserable and [illegible] had enough strength and ambition to attend to my housework. I commenced taking Kadok several weeks ago and can truthfully say it has made me feel like a new woman. My appetite is good and the bloating pains and indigestion no longer bother me. I am regaining my strength rapidly and do my housework without any exertion at all. I sleep well now and have entirely overcome my nervous trouble, my bowels are now regular and the spots on my neck have all gone away. Kadok is certainly a wonderfully good medicine and I cannot say anything too good for it."

Kadok can be had in Newark at Evans' Drug Store, Ullman's, Granville, O.

FORMER NEWARK MOLDER IS DEAD

The death of Fred E. Vautrin who made Newark his home for several years, took place at Rochester, N. Y., Sunday. The deceased resided in Newark from 1915 to 1919 and was employed at the Wehrle company's plant as a molder.

He was a musician of ability, and made many friends during his stay here. He has been in ill health for the past ten years but bore his sufferings with fortitude. He is survived by an aged mother, two sisters and three brothers.

EVANGELIST DISCUSSES SIN AND ITS PENALTIES

Sin and its penalties were discussed last night by Evangelist W. R. Gilley at the Nazarene church, the evening service resulting in two confessions and the afternoon service in three. In his evening sermon, the evangelist pointed out that what the world terms lesser sins are placed by God in the same class with murder and other greater sins. He said the Bible deals with sin in only two ways, it is either covered by blood and put in the sea of forgetfulness or it is cast into a burning eternal hell.

The afternoon services are well attended. Miss Barnard sings at the afternoon and evening meetings. Service will begin tonight at 7 o'clock with a prayer service led by Mr. Walters. Saturday night's service is at 7:15. There will be three preaching services Sunday, 10:30 a. m., 2:30 and 7 p. m. The Sunday afternoon topic will be "The Second Coming of Jesus."

Cleveland: Backing up the request of Governor Davis that Ohioans use Ohio coal, a petition has been presented to Cuyahoga county commissioners asking them to use only state-mined fuel in the institutions under their jurisdiction.

Oberlin: Students at Oberlin college have taken action against gowns for girls except at a few formal affairs of the college year.

Steubenville: Application for a receiver for the James Workman and Sons company, a new corporation, has been filed.

Alliance: An organization of non-fraternity men has been completed at Alliance college.

GET PHILIPPINE WAR DEVICES FROM PERSHING

Augments Collection of Bird Skins Already Given.

Major Portion Will Be Sent From Washington Soon.

Lincoln, Neb., Feb. 3.—Gen. John J. Pershing has augmented his contribution of Philippine bird skins presented to the state museum of the University of Nebraska several years ago by a collection of Philippine war implements, accumulated by the general during his various army manouvers in the islands.

The first shipment of the collection has been received and the major portion which is stored in Washington will be forwarded later. General Pershing attached his compliments with the collection when they were presented.

Included among those pieces already received and described by the museum custodian as of more value, are:

Three long-shafted and ornamented spears, made and used by the Moros of the southern Philippine islands.

A large solid brass helmet made by the Moros in imitation of the style of the Spanish of the 16th and 17th centuries.

A rare and valuable heavy cast helmet of unusual size, weight and design, also likened after the Spanish.

A coat of mail of heavy brass links and plates, in thick cast brass; each plate being inlaid with copper in various designs.

A set of ten large brass gongs, tuned and set together to make a musical instrument akin to the xylophone.

Two richly ornamented cast brass lantakas, or native cannon. They are five to six feet long, weigh 150 to 200 pounds each, have a bore of about one inch and throw a one-inch projectile.

Sets of dagger kris, straight and serpentine kris, broadbladed barongs used by Moro tribes, beheading swords and similar weapons. Some of the swords are elaborately wrought with heavy handles of carved ivory, trimmed, wound and inlaid with silver.

The blades in some instances are inlaid with metal and etched in intricate designs.

BOTH WOMEN AND MEN FAIL TO VOTE

Stockholm.—Less than half of the women of Sweden entitled to vote exercised their newly-won franchise rights at the polls in the elections of 1921, the first year of full suffrage for women, according to a report of the Swedish Central Bureau of Statistics just made public. However, the official report of the 1921 elections gives the suffragist leaders at least two causes for rejoicing.

The men did not show a much better record than the women, and the number of women voters exceeded the male voters in the capital of Stockholm by more than 5,000 voters.

The official report shows that 47.1 per cent of the Swedish women voters cast their ballot while 61.9 per cent of the men voted. The total women's vote in the city of Stockholm was 76,... while vote cast by men was 71,...

The general impression throughout the country seems to be that the Swedish women have not fully realized the importance and significance of their new privilege. It is believed that in the future they will make a better showing at the polls.

The heavy women's vote in Stockholm, which is to a large extent an industrial city, may indicate that the working women, especially women trade union members, grasped the opportunity to register their votes. However, other women cannot be said to have neglected the ballot as a whole.

Extension Classes in the "Farmers' Extension course," scheduled for the week of January 30, have been postponed a week because of Farmers' Week at Ohio State university.

Springfield: Plans for the erection of a new $50,000 gymnasium at the Ohio I. O. O. F. Home are being made. Frank L. McDonald, formerly of Wilmington, is superintendent of the home.

Canton: The Canton automobile club opens a safety first campaign by members making a flying trip to all public and private schools and addressing pupils on "Safety First Precautions."

Alliance: Alliance police are trying to run down a man representing himself as a field worker for the Red Cross, and who has obtained money by such representation.

Cleveland: Headquarters of the National City Managers' association are being moved to East Cleveland because City Manager C. O. Osborne of East Cleveland now is the president of the association.

George Rurick.
Word has been received of the death of George Rurick, 25, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Rurick, in New Lexington, Thursday morning. The deceased succumbed to an illness of typhoid fever.

He formerly resided in Newark for about five years, living in Tenth street. He is survived by his wife and baby, his parents and one sister living in Mt. Vernon.

The funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home in New Lexington.

Card of Thanks.
We desire to thank our friends and neighbors for their faithfulness and for their many acts of kindness shown us at the sickness and death of our beloved mother Mrs. Ann Lewis, for their beautiful floral offerings, also Dr. Hornby for his faithful care and kindness, Rev. Stone and Rev. Northey for their consoling words, also Mr. Bradley for his services rendered. Mr. and Mrs. David H. Evans and Family. 2-3-1tx

Sarah Sherwood, Died Feb. 3, 1909.
Oft and oft our hearts do wander,
To a grave not far away.
Where we laid our dear loved one,
Just 13 years ago today.
When the evening shadows are falling
And we are setting all alone,
Then comes a silent longing,
If she only could come home.
Her daughter, Mrs. Henry Schimp. 2-3-1t

Toledo: A commission to be composed of representative leaders in the rail and shipping interests will be appointed by Mayor Brough to work in co-operation with the city government in the development and expansion of Toledo's harbor facilities.

THE COURTS

Wife Charges Neglect.
Mildred L. Haley filed suit for divorce from Fred Haley in probate court this morning through Attorney William C. Irish. The petition alleges a separation on January 30, 1922, and charges gross neglect, cruelty and failure to provide. Divorce and the restoration of her maiden name of Quinn are asked of the court.

Runaway Returned.
Juvenile Officer John Dwyer went to Columbus yesterday and returned with Henry Dolan, 12, of 344 Wilson street. Young Dolan ran away from home Tuesday and walked and hopped rides to Columbus. He was taken in charge by officials at the capitol city and was held in the detention home.

Case Is Appealed.
Lou Mercur, through his attorney, L. C. Russell, carried his case to the common pleas court on error Thursday afternoon. Mercur was convicted of the possession of liquor in probate court several weeks ago and was fined by Judge Alexander. A rehearing of the case is sought in the common pleas court.

FROM CHICAGO TO PHILADELPHIA VIA STEAMER

Five Ocean Going Steamers Have Been Purchased to Start the Line.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Without waiting for action on the proposed Great Lakes-St. Lawrence deep water route to the sea. Chicago will have regular steamship service to Philadelphia next summer, according to officals of the Chicago Steamship company.

Five ocean going steamers have been purchased to start the line. All the ships come within the present dimensions of the Welland canal locks, so they can pass from the lakes to the St. Lawrence.

One of the vessels, the George W. Clyde, left Philadelphia for Chicago several weeks ago loaded with sugar, but after being buffeted by winter gales off the Nova Scotian coast, was caught by ice in Lake St. Clair, above Detroit, and is now held there waiting for a thaw. The Clyde is able to plough through six inch ice in the open lakes, but the narrow St. Clair has been jammed with thick floes.

Two other ships, purchased from the shipping board at Seattle, are outfitting there for the long trip via the Panama canal and the St. Lawrence. The same trip was made last summer by the passenger steamer Petoskey, formerly in the Seattle Alaskan service.

The Chicago Steamship company has purchased two other tramp steamers, one of which is now at a Cuban port and the other at Philadelphia.

The five ships will make regular ports to call including Detroit, Montreal, Quebec, Boston, New York and Philadelphia, according to J. C Hoskins, general manager of the line.

TWO PATRIOTIC EVENTS WILL BE OBSERVED FEB. 12

The two patriotic holidays, Lincoln's and George Washington's birthday anniversaries will be celebrated together at Memorial Hall, February 12, at 1:30 o'clock. An excellent program is being prepared, according to Mrs. H. D. Burch, patriotic instructor of Ohio for the Women's Relief Corps.

SOVIET POLICE IN STOCKHOLM.

Stockholm — The presence in Stockholm of 20 secret police of the Russian Soviet government, well supplied with funds, has been disclosed by press investigations. Angelica Bolabanov, internationally known woman agitator of the Soviet regime, has recently arrived in Stockholm via Reval. The Stockholm police are watching the visitors closely.

The activity of the Bolsheviki in Sweden has attracted considerable attention ever since the revelation last year of a widely ramified red conspiracy which gave rise to a long and sensational court proceeding in

POPE STARTED VATICAN SCHOOL OF TAPESTRY

It Is Now Producing Beautiful Painted Copies of Tapestry Pictures.

Rome—The late Pope Benedict used to derive much pleasure from the School of Tapestry which he caused to be established among the many workers who spend their lives in decorating or repairing the immense Palace of the Vatican.

The school is now in full working order and producing beautiful painted copies of the tapestry pictures. It is housed in some of the rooms of the old Papal mint, off the Vatican gardens, and, after his afternoon walk, the Pope sometimes looked in to see how the work was progressing and to order fresh subjects.

The school has just completed a copy of Crivelli's Madonna, in the Vatican Picture Gallery, which it has taken 14 months to produce, and the Pontiff, a short time before he died, ordered a reproduction of the upper part of Raphael's marvellous "Disputa" which will measure 12 square yards, and will require seven or eight years to complete.

The Vatican contains the most glorious tapestries in the world, many of them almost unknown to the general public. There are the famous Raphael tapestries in the Stanze; the 15th century tapestries of the Borgia apartment; the incomparable Farnese tapestries and those given by Louis XIV of France to the Pope of his day.

PREMIER GIVES DINNER TO 300 OF UNEMPLOYED

First Time Swedish Official Has Entertained for Destitute Constituents.

Stockholm—Hialmar Branting, the Socialist Premier of Sweden, recently gave at his own cost a dinner to 300 unemployed men and women of Stockholm. The Premier and Mrs. Branting acted as host and hostess, while the guests were waited upon by society women of the capital, among them, Mrs. George Branting, the wife of the premier's son.

Later in the evening, the guests were given hot baths and provided with lodgings in the municipal lodging houses houses of Stockholm.

This is believed to be the first time that the premier of a European state has personally entertained his destitute constitutents. When his guests had eaten their fill, Premier Branting addressed them on the economic conditions in Sweden.

The Premier began by informing them that neither this dinner nor any other private or public aid extended to men and women without work was in any sense charity, but simply what was rightfully due them from those who were fortunate enough to be able to help. He said it was not their fault that they were without means of livelihood, but the fault of warped conditions throughout Europe.

Mr. Branting warned his guests that the efforts of the state to better social and economic conditions could not be expected to lead to immediate results.

Alluding to the chaos in Russia, he declared that the slow-moving efforts of the old established government system to improve social conditions was infinitely preferable to the breaking-up of the old system. The world has seen such a course led. But social solidarity, he continued, demanded from every person that he help as far as he possibly could in relieving the distress of the more unfortunate.

"I hope." the Premier continued, "that others will follow this example and that you will see thereby an utterance of social solidarity which breaks through all barriers."

The Premier's speech which was delivered with great earnestness, was received by a spontaneous and enthusiastic applause.

INSTITUTE SKYSCRAPER ERA IN GERMANY.

Hamburg—The first skyscraper in Germany will soon be constructed in the old business section of the city of Hamburg. It will be 16 stories high, topping the highest building in Germany at this time by five stories.

Architects believe the erection of this building will institute the era of skyscrapers in Germany, and expect to see a number of similar buildings constructed within the next few years.

Nnusual difficulties must be overcome. The city water plant is equipped to furnish water only to the 11th story and this brought up the question of fire danger, and insurance, as well as the probability of financial loss in view of difficulties in renting offices on the five higher floors.

Despite these difficulties the promoters have secured permission to erect the structure "provided the building does not destroy the architectural symmetry" of the streets.

MAY REBUILD RHEIMS.

Rheims, France—The city of Rheims may be repuilt within five years. This is the opinion of Marquis Melchior de Polignac, president of the Cooperative Society for the Reconstruction of Rheims. At the most he says, the work will not require more than six or seven years. The amount of work remaining to be done is estimated by the Marquis to cost 1,000,000,000 francs, of which 100,000,000 is for reparations and 900,000,000 for reconstruction. He says that the society will have 200,000,000 francs placed at its disposal each year for the next five years. This is by arrangement of credits with the Department of Public Works.

LONDON CLUBS INSOLVENT.

London.—It is no exaggeration to say that 90 percent of the London clubs are insolvent an article in the Evening News states.

According to the writer, most of London's 150 clubs have been unable to pay their way for the past two or three years and have been keeping up a precarious existence by increasing subscriptions and entrance fees, and by raising loans and mortgages at high rates of interest. In many cases, salaries and board of the servants absorb the whole of the subscriptions.

Cleveland, Feb. 3.—Eggs: Ohio firsts old cases, 38c. Rabbits, $1.75 @2.00 a dozen; Jacks, $4 a dozen.

Wall Street.

New York, Feb. 3.—The extensive short interest in the stock market, continued to cover at the active and firm opening of today's session. Oils, utilities and many miscellaneous shares registered early gains extending from large fractions to over one point. General Asphalt, Peoples Gas, Third Avenue and Brown shoe were the strong features. National Enamelling, American International, Iron Products, Studebaker, Industrial Alcohol, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Pittsburgh Coal and Columbia Graphaphone preferred, were in demand with Corn Products, Virginia-Carolina Chemical, General Electric and Hide and Leather preferred. One block of 12,00, shares of General Motors sold at nine, unchanged from yesterday's final price.

Trading broadened under the more confident operations of pools during the morning, transactions in the first hour amounting to 300,000 shares. Call loans opened and renewed into next week at 5 1-2 per cent but in private offerings a lower rate was made. Boldwin and Pullman were added to stronger equipments, and Mexican Petroleum, Houston and Standard Oil of New Jersey strengthened with other oils. Chain store and textile issues were featured by Kresge, Cluett Peabody and Woolworth at gains of two to three points. After loosing 2 1-4 points American Ice rallied five points but soon cancelled its gain. American Snuff featured the dormant specialties at a gain of 12 points.

Boston Wool Market.

Boston, Feb. 3.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

"The wool market has been somewhat less active pending the government auction on Thursday when the market became decidedly animated. As a result of the government auction prices on the street today are probably five cents a pound higher, scoured basis, vaule at the auction having shown an average advance of about 25 per cent over the sale in January.

"Reports from the goods market indicate a fairly steady demand for overcoatings and certain dress goods lines but standard worsted suitings seem to be a bit slow. Mill resumption has lessened slightly. Contracting proceeds steadily in the west, 28 to 33 cents being paid in Utah and 23 cents for wool around Casper, Wyoming. A fair percentage of the Nevada and Utah clips is reported contracted already."

Chicago Live Stock.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Cattle, receipts 4,000; market fairly active and strong to higher on beef steers; choice yearlings, steers and heifers, $9.50, weight 1,013 pounds bulk beef steers, $6.75@7.85; she stock steady to strong; bulls, stockers and feeders about steady; veal calves unevenly steady to lower.

Hogs, receipts 24,000; light and medium active, 10@20c higher, others slowly mostly steady to strong with yesterday's average; top, $9.50; bulk, $8.85@9.35; pigs, 10c@25c higher; bulk desirable around $9.25; some up to $9.50. Sheep, receipts 6,000; mostly steady, very little choice stuff here; lambs, top early, $15.50; one load held higher; bulk early, $13@13.25; medium weight ewes, $6.75; extra heavy, $5.75@6; fed lambs early, $12 50.

Chicago Grain Review.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Although the wheat market scored a fresh advance in the early transactions today the effect failed to last. Initial upturns were ascribed to the influence of new gains in Liverpool quotations. Many dealers, here, however, leaned to the view that the recent general advance of values had been too rapid and that a reaction was in order opening prices which ranged from 1-8 to 5-8, with May, $1.23 1-2@1.23 3-4 and July, $1.07 5-8@1.08, were followed by a set back all around to below yesterday's finish.

Reports showing that farm reserve supplies of oats were unusually small, gave firmness to prices of corn and oats. After opening unchanged to 1-8@1-4c, May, 54 5-8@54 3-4c; the corn market hardened a little more.

Oats started 1-2c higher, May, 39 3-8@39 1-2c and continued to point upward. Provisions were lifted by an advance in the hog market.

Chicago Produce.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Butter unchanged. Eggs lower; receipts 10,737 cases; firsts 36 3-4; ordinary firsts 31@33; miscellaneous 33@36.

EDUCATIONAL MOVE IS ON THE DECLINE

Rangoon—The Nationalist educational movement in Burma which originated more than a year ago appears to be declining.

Large numbers of students have been leaving the Nationalist schools and going back to the government schools and government aided mission schools whence they came.

A number of the Nationalist schools have been closed chiefly because of the difficulty of supporting them without taxation, because no university will recognize degrees conferred by the Nationalist college and because of the belief held by many Burman Nationalists that a permanent system of Burmese education cannot be formed until complete home rule has been attained.

One of the first steps in the Nationalist educational movement was a boycott of agitation against the University of Rangoon. However, Maung E of Mandalay, one of the leaders of the boycott agitation has just asked in the Rangoon Times that the boycott be called off. He declared that "at this stage of the movement it is manifest that an unconditional boycott can produce dire consequences to the nation. In Burma the boycott of one university means a boycott of education.

This staying aloof, like Achilles sulking in his tent with the peevishness of a child, is a bad policy in public questions. The University boycott is like the Australian boomerang and now rebounds to the aggressor."

THREE BIDDERS APPEAR.

Detroit, Feb. 3.—Three bidders will appear tomorrow at the public sale here of the Lincoln motor company. Indications that representatives of Henry Ford would be the only bidders for the property were upset at the last minute this morning when the federal court accepted certified checks for $250,000 from two additional prospective purchasers. The court announced the property would not be sold for less than $8,000,000.

Columbus: The annual concert of the Girl's Glee club of Ohio State university will be given in chapel February 18.

POLES SET FOR POWER LINE

Granville Residents Hope For Rapid Completion Of Transmission Line —Meters are Being Installed.

(Special to the Advocate)

Granville, Feb. 3.—Granville residents are hopeful of the rapid completion of the work carried on by the Ohio Power company this winter. Practically the poles are all set, and meters are being installed. The wiring will not take long, but the clearing up of loose ends for the safe conduct of the electric current into the village will require a little more time and care, officials say. There has been some objection to the appearance of the additional poles on Broadway, but "utility before beauty," has won for once—and Broadway owners have yielded gracefully to necessity.

David Lewis, formerly of the Columbus road, is critically ill at his home in Elm sreet, from a complication of troubles, paralysis, pneumonia and weakened heart action. He is attended by his daughter Miss Anna Lewis.

Mrs. W. H. Kussmaul entertained at her home in South Prospect street Thursday evening with a dinner of 18 covers, assisted by her cousin and house guest, Mrs. Madden of Zanesville. Place cards were in honor of St. Valentine and decorations were American Beauty rose buds. Those present were: Mrs. A. K. Follett, Mrs. Frank Ray, Mrs. H. G. Sheidt, Mrs. E. J. Dorsey, Mrs. B. I. Jones, Miss Martha Geach, Miss Minnie Jones, Miss Sheldon, Mrs. C. S. Wright, Mrs. W. H. Chrysler, Mrs. Anna E. Pond, Mrs. Emanuel Breeze, Mrs. Minnie B. Kerr, Miss Mayme Geach, Mrs. L. N. Flory, Miss Anna Lyon, Miss Nellie Rees, Mrs. Burton Case.

About a dozen members of the kindergarten board were actively engaged in cooking and serving the "waffle supper" that had most generous patronage Thursday evening in the basement of St. Luke's church and which netted a neat sum for the kindergarten fund.

J. S. Jones who came from Na[illegible], Florida, for a week's stay, left Wednesday night for Washington. [illegible] writes: "It is a far cry [illegible] scenes from my window, [illegible] cocoa palms and sap[illegible] the sea to the land of snow [illegible] in Ohio. . . Franklin A. Ray returned Thursday morning from a busines trip to Washington, D. C. Mr. Ray viewed the ruins of the Knickerbocker theater and talked with several of those who had escaped from the collapse of the roof Saturday night. The city was in mourning on Tuesday when the funerals were held.

The Granville Baptist church paid last year $16,000 on its $50,000 subscription to the New World Movement—besides other contributions to the five-year program.

Miss Susan Maxwell Moore, formerly of the Denison conservatory, entertained during the holiday season with an "old fashioned frolic" given at her home in the woman's dormitory at Morgantown, W. Va. A group of members of original Morgantown families was present, and the evening was merrily spent with old-fashioned games, the most popular of these being "Old Dan Tucker" and the Virginia reel. At the close of the games the hostess served old-fashioned refreshments, consisting of apples, cookies and candy.

"Whose Grip?" will be the sermon topic at the Welsh Hills church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The congregations and Sunday school attendance have been growing since the first of January. Mr. Earps of Denison has been called to serve as pastor of the church for another year.

In the Red Cross membership drive this week only the regular one dollar fee is asked. Those desiring to contribute larger sums will receive thanks and credit from the county boards of Red Cross, Public Health Service—but no solicitation will be made. Yesterday Mrs. Frank Ray, president of the Licking board of health, was at the Electric Supply store in charge of the Red Cross committee, composed of Mrs. Darrow and Mrs. Odebrecht. Today Mrs. John Owens and committee, was in charge, and on Saturday Miss Frances Ray and committees of college girls will serve.

Yeast Vitamon Tablets Bring Real Beauty

Banishes Skin Eruptions. Puts On Firm Flesh, Strengthens The Nerves and Increases Energy.

Of what use are beautiful features if you have an ugly skin, flabby flesh, hollow cheeks or a scrawny neck? Mastin's VITAMON is positively guaranteed to give you new health, beauty and a well-rounded face and figure.

Concentrated Tablets Easy and Economical to Take. Results Quick.

If you want to quickly clear your skin and complexion, put some firm, healthy flesh on your bones, increase your nerve force and power, and look and feel 100 per cent. better, simply try taking two of Mastin's tiny yeast VITAMON Tablets with each meal and watch results. Mastin's VITAMON contains highly concentrated yeast vitamines, as well as the other two still more important vitamines (Fat Soluble A and Water Soluble C). Pimples, boils and skin eruptions seem to vanish like magic under its purifying influence, the complexion becomes fresh and beautiful, the cheeks rosy instead of pale, the lips red instead of colorless, the eyes bright instead of dull. The whole system is toned and invigorated, and those who are under-weight begin to get some firm, "stay-there" flesh. So rapid and amazing are the results that success is absolutely guaranteed. Be sure to remember the name—Mastin's VI-TA-MON—the original and genuine yeast-vitamine tablet. There is nothing else like it, so do not accept imitations or substitutes. You can get Mastin's VITAMON Tablets at all good druggists.

Next Week's Games:

Tuesday—American Legion vs. Phi Delta; Midland vs. Heisey.

Thursday—Printers vs. Business College; Heath vs. Burke Golf.

The highest score recorded this year in the Y. M. C. A. Industrial Basket Ball League was registered last night when Keith tipped in the last basket, pushing up the total to 93 for the American Legion. The Business College had to be content with 25. Every player on the local post team scored. Thorpe and Sommers scored heaviest in the first half while Keith and Caldwell featured in the second period. Glassmeier's long shots were the bright spots in the school teams playing.

From a poor start off the Printers-Phi Delt game became a classy scrap. At the end of the first period Printers tailed 22 to Phi Delt 10. As the second period progressed the club team crept up, and during the last five minutes of play the scores were very close. Two fouls called on the Phi Delts in the last minute and a half gave the typesetters the advantage from a tie standpoint. Slocumbs long shot was timely and with Parkinson's free throw the game was won for [illegible] to 30.

The smallest crowd of the season was present at the [illegible] last night. Referee, [illegible]; Hibler: Timer, [illegible].

professor, minister and [illegible]. He is an orator of marked ability. He has held evangelistic meetings in many Ohio towns, including [illegible] men, Dennison, besides Covington, Ky., and New Martinsville, W. Va. During the past few months he has fine success in Illinois, Kansas and Iowa. He will arrive in Newark Saturday and will be entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Faust in North Cedar street.

Dr. Loose will be accompanied by his wife, Mrs. Alice W. Loose, who is a trained chorus leader, and will have charge of the music of the meetings. A large chorus choir will be under the direction of Mrs. Loose.

After two weeks in the United Brethren church the meetings will be conducted in the East Main Street Methodist church.

JOHNSONS SLIP ONE OVER ON DICKERSONS

Tuesday: Johnsons vs. Dickersons.

The Johnsons and Dickersons clashed again last night in best two out of three games at the Y. M. C. A. in the T. T. Volley Ball League.

The first game was turned over to the Johnsons by a close margin. Dickersons squad with their clever hits outguessed their opponents and grabbed of fthe second game.

The Johnsons were now up a tree, but a few secret plays did the work, as they had Dickersons walking the plank at this time, which gave the Johnson squad the score of the evening.

Boston: Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul, scored a technical knockout over Pat McCarthy, Roxbury, Mass., in fourth round of a scheduled ten round match.

BOWLING

The Pintas made a strong bid for for first place in the K. of C. league last night on the Pastime alleys by defeating the league leading Santa Marias two out of three games. "Buck" Stoner of the Pinta brought the house to their feet in an uproar in the second game by turning in the two, seven and ten split. Jno. Kennedy was the high man for the evening.

SAY SALT WATER FISHERIES ARE BEING MENACED

Caused By Pollution and Improper Spawning Regulations.

Atlantic Sturgeon and Salmon Are Fast Disappearing.

New York, Feb. 3.—The salt water fisheries of this country are seriously menaced by the present practices of commercial fishermen, pollution fo water and improper spawning regulations, declared John B. Burnham, a member of the Migratory Fish Conservation committee, and one of the originators of the migratory bird law, today.

Off the coast of Lower California, Mr. Burnham asserted, the water is frequently white with fish killed by purse seiners, who cannot take them to port for sale. He says that the Atlantic sturgeon and salmon have practically disappeared and added:

"Unless radical action to preserve our fish is taken in the immediate future, this country will find itself facing the problem of trying to restore a natural resource of great importance which already has been lost."

The Migratory Fish Conservation committee, an organization believing in the necessity for federal control of the fisheries, will soon introduce in congress a bill similar to the present migratory bird law, looking to the general protection of fish in the waters of the United States, Mr. Burnham said.

The migratory bird law, he stated, had proved conclusively that game can be conserved by proper legislation and the Migratory Fish Conservation committee expects little opposition to the bill except from commercial fishermen and those states which derive a revenue from such fishing without a thought of the probable duration of the industry.

STATE LOSES TWO BASKETBALL STARS

Columbus, Feb. 3.—Ohio State's basketball team has to weather the [illegible] now, the loss of Paul Beard, sophomore star, and one of the mainstays of the quintet. Beard's physician has ordered him not to play any more.

Beard was considered one of the most prominent athletes in the university. His nickname was "the one-man track team," earned in his high school days when he came to an Ohio State interscholastic meet and all by himself took second place.

The loss of "Hi-P" Blair, football and basketball star, was the first severe blow for the Buckeyes. Blair opened an old knee-injury in the Yale game this year.

Despite the setbacks, Coach Trautman is hopeful of getting at least an even break in the Big Ten on [illegible] the remaining eight contests. Today, with the contests standing two-all, the Ohio athletes have won as many games as they did in the conference all last winter.

Denison, last of Ohio State's Ohio opponents, is next on the list. The Baptists appear here February 7.

MILLERSPORT MAN IS STATE'S BEST FIDDLER

Columbus, Feb. 3.—It took "Turkey in the Straw," "Pop! Goes the Weasel," "Old Zip Coon" and a score more of old-time melodies yesterday to determine in the minds of the judges who was the best old fiddler in a contest held at Ohio State University as a Farmers' week attraction.

After much deliberation, C. V. Harding, 57, Millersport, who not only played the fiddle, but jigged in fine shape, was dubbed the best of the lot. W. L. Thomas, Morrow county, got second prize and that went to John Baltzell, aged 8?, of Mt. Vernon.

Among other entrants were Dan Wilson, 57, Lancaster; Thomas Allison, Millersburg, 88, who told the committee he "shore" 2000 sheep last year; W. C. Jenks, St. Paris; L. L. Nothstine, 73, Rainsboro; Ray Merese, 80, Marysville; Albert Noe, 8?, Columbus; George Crans, Pataskala; Samuel Tingley, Yellow Springs, and C. E. Wilson, Columbus.

WOMEN PEARL DIVERS

Pearl diving is one profession that man has been given a free field in by the Western women. The only women pearl divers in the world are Japanese. They are really pearl planters. Their work consists in taking the pear oysters from their beds at the bottom of the sea and introducing a small pellet within the shell. It is then replaced in its bed and four years later taken out with a pearl inside—for the pearl is made through the coating the oyster's system puts around this substance.

Since round pearls are in demand a process has been evolved to have the majority of the pearls made round. Pearl Buddhas have resulted from a minute image of Buddha being planted in the oysters.

Washington C. H.: This city has been selected as one of 12 centers in [illegible] sectional basketball tournaments will be held Feb. 19 and [illegible] in the first elimination games to [illegible] independent basketball championship. Nine surrounding counties will send teams here.

SAFETY FIRST SYSTEM HAS BEEN OF BENEFIT

Accidental Deaths Were Cut from 33 in 1920 to 20 in 1921 in Statement of Company.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Systematic Accident prevention pays, in dollars saved and suffering avoided, say officials of the Chicago Great Western railroad in making public figures to show reductions in deaths and injuries on that road for 1921.

Accidental deaths were cut from 33 in 1920 to 20 in 1921, according to a statement issued by the company and the number of injuries reduced from 610 to 294 in this period.

Ten of the deaths in the last year resulted from automobile-crossing accidents, five of those killed were trespassers on the right of way and five were employes, while no passengers were killed, the statement adds.

The western division won the banner offered by the company for fewest train and train service casualties per 100,000 engine hours.

The company boosted safety work among the employes by means of daily wire bulletins in each division announcing the number of days since there had been a reportable accident on the division. This bulletin was copied and posted at all telegraph stations. It was put out to train crews whenever these cleared a train from a station and was mailed to points in the service not reached by telegraph.

Factors which went to promote safety work, according to the statement, are:

1. Whole hearted support of safety work by the management.

2. Conversion of superintendents to the idea that accidents show inefficiency and that their prevention is just as much a part of the day's work as the prevention of train delays—that safety work is the first principle of efficiency, not a side issue.

3. Conversion of employes to the belief that accident prevention work really decreases accidents—that the employe is the chief gainer through such work and that carelessness is criminal folly from which only physical suffering and financial loss are to be expected.

4. Promotion of a spirit of competition among employes by the giving of prizes among divisions.

5. Improved methods of maintaining interest in accident prevention.

SPORT BRIEFS.

South Bend: Eight Notre Dame athletes formally disqualified from further athletic competition after investigation of Taylorville football game by William Farrell, a member of the athletic board.

Philadelphia—Sailor Miller, negro boxer, died shortly after being knocked out in a match with Spike Hover, also a negro.

Saranac Lake, N. Y.: William Steinmetz, Chicago, won international outdoor skating championship in three-day meet. Charles Jeweltraw, Lake Placid, was second and Charles Gordon, St. John, N. B., third.

Cleveland: Local shoe dealers are preparing for Cleveland's first shoe show, to be held here in connection with the annual convention of the Ohio Valley Retail Shoe Dealers' association, March 6, 7, and 8. The show will include exhibits of the mid-summer styles in men's and women's footwear.

ELECTED PRESIDENT NEAR EAST SOCIETY

Constantinople—Dr. William W. Peet, who was recently appointed League of Nations' Commissioner here, has been elected president of the Association for Friendly Relations in the Near East, just organized in this city. Dr. Peet has long been one of the chief representatives of American missionary interests in Turkey.

Rear Admiral Mark Bristol, American High Commissioner, is honorary chairman of the society.

In an inaugural address, he expressed the hope that this movement marked the beginning of an effort that might result in great good in this part of the world. He said that the association would be dedicated to a study of the art of cultivating friendly relations, social, religious, commercial and political between individuals, communities and nations. It was a big task, he added.

ALASKA IS GOOD BUY.

It is estimated that in one year Alaska yielded almost one thousand per cent on its purchase price. Although it has produced wealth from natural resources to the value of $1,000,000,000 Alaskans say that "as yet the surface of the country has hardly been scratched." In spite of these vast natural resources, the population of Alaska, according to the Census Bureau, decreased between 1910 and 1920 from whites to only 27,883.

LUTHERANS TO HAVE FATHER-SON DINNER

At least 150 men, women and children of the Lutheran charge are expecting to attend the "father and son banquet" which will be held at the Wyoming Valley Grange hall, Vanatta, on Monday evening at 7 o'clock.

William Locke, an alumnus of Wittenberg college, will preside as toastmaster and will introduce the various speakers. Addresses will be delivered by Dr. F. P. Barr, Rev. John W. Berger, and Rev. Frank Taafel. The addresses will deal with "Brotherhood work," "College Training," and "More Men for the Ministry."

The movie film, depicting college life at Wittenberg, will be shown. The general purpose of the banquet is to interest young men of the Lutheran churches to enter the ministry. While the need for preachers is being more seriously felt in many other denominations among the Lutherans, reports show that in the United Lutheran church there are 542 congregations without a pastor.

An appetizing lunch will be served by the women and girls of the three congregations at the close of the program. The men of the Lutheran Brotherhood are backing the project.

UNITED STATES SETTLED NOT BY CONQUEST

Pioneer, With His Wife, Gun and Ax, First.

Farm Was Later Natural Development of Community.

Ames, Ia., Feb. 3.—The United States was settled not by conquest, but by the home builder. The pioneer with his young wife, his gun, his ax, and his dog went into the wilderness to build a home. The farm came later as the settlement developed into a community. This community is the heart and the soul of America today, Dean Eugene Davenport of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois, told the gatherers at the Farmers' Week at Iowa State college here today.

"The development of country life n America has been a slow and in nany respects a complicated mat-ter," Dean Davenport said. "The old-time three months winter school has developed into the modern community high school, and in many localities the farmer's sons and daughters can prepare for college while sleeping every night under the father's roof.

"The religious life of the community has not equally developed. In many respects we have gone backward as compared with the early days, and there is no feature of farm life that needs now more earnest attention than the development of the country church.

"In the meantime, it is more difficult than ever to secure a home upon the land. For those who are fortunate enough to inherit a goodly property, the farm and the home come together. For those who begin with their hands and undertake to purchase, the problem is a serious one. As for the tenant, he may secure a farm by paying cash or crop rent, but he cannot have a real home until he owns it.

"The rest of modern country homes are now equipped with all modern conveniences, and they are real centers of culture, but their number needs vastly to increase. There is no larger problem before the American people today than is the financial machinery for facilitating the purchase of country homes.

"Landscape art has only begun to do for our homesteads what trees and shrubs and flowers and sloping lawns are entirely able to accomplish in the matter of beauty and all in an inexpensive way. A good tree once planted takes care of itself. Shrubs and grass need little attention, and in respect to what may be accomplished by outdoor art, we are only at the threshold of what needs greatly to be done.

"The vast prairie empire of the upper Mississippi valley has begun an extensive system of road building. There should go with it for beauty's sake and for public satisfaction a comprehensive plan for roadside planting.

"Our amusements have in too many places departed from the old time country social to a more or less systematic drift to the nearest town to be entertained by such movies as happen to be upon the reels. The country people, like those of the city, have too far lost the power of self-entertainment. For part of the time at least, they need to look in and not out for sources of amusement and of satisfaction as spice to the serious business of life. The good work is beginning in our better schools, but it has yet far to go.

"Both amusement and recreation are too much employed as a mere means of getting rid of surplus time, especially in the winter, and all too often they cut into the serious business of production in even the busiest season. The practice of taking Saturday afternoon off, which obtains in many places regardless of the condition of the crops or the harvest and spending the time mainly in loafing at the nearest town is a social custom that has grown up without sufficient reason, and it should be either discontinued or something really worth while should occupy the time.

"All in all, the open country is just at the threshold of a social development which ought to result in and American type of citizenship, not only industrious but cultured and in every way thoroughly consistent with the standards of a self governing people."

BIMINI IS MECCA FOR THE THIRSTY

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 3.—Federal prohibition officials here are interested in Bimini, the small British island forty miles east of Miami which since the outlawing of John Barleycorn by the United States has become a mecca for those whose thirst was not quenched by the Eighteenth amendment and which also is said to be the source of much of the liquor smuggled into this country, have ascertained that Bimini was supposed to have been the site of the "fountain of youth" of which Ponce de Leon was in search when he discovered Florida.

Bimini is not a recently established institution, it has developed for more than four hundred years ago it figures in the news reports of the day by that name. Ponce de Leon heard of it while in Porto Rico in 1512, having been told by the Indians there "of an island called Bimini, where there was much gold and a treasure even more precious than gold—a fountain whose waters would make young forever all mortals who should drink of it," as one chronicler puts it.

Ponce de Leon fitted out three small vessels at his own expense to go in search of the fountain. He left to the present generation the discovery of the gold and potent waters, however, for after cruising about the Bahamas during the winter of 1513 without sighting the island he heard there was land in the northwest, steered in that direction and on Easter Sunday, March 27, landed on the beach a few miles north of where St. Augustine now stands.

Prohibition officials credit the Indians of Porto Rico with having known what they were talking about when they told Ponce de Leon what he would find at Bimini.

"Bimini is running over with gold these days," said one official, "and it is certain from the experience we have had with liquor runners the last year or two that the marvelous waters of the fountain still flow freely."

The statement that there is some alcohol in everything was true until some of this bootleg liquor came on the market.—Washington Post.

IOWA UNIVERSITY TO PROFIT BY BIG EXPEDITION

Project Is Privately Financed But Specimens Go to College.

One of the Instructors Will Be One Of Party.

Iowa City, Ia., Feb. 3.—Museums and collections of scientific material at the University of Iowa are to be enriched by an expedition to the South Seas, New Zealand, and possibly Japan which has been projected and which is being financed by E. W. Brown, Des Moines, who will turn over any specimens obtained to the university at Des Moines. As now planned this expedition will leave the United States in about a year and will spend several months cruising southern Pacific waters.

Prof. Homer R. Dill, director of the university's exhibit of vertebrates and a number of the staff of zoology department, has been invited by Mr. Brown to represent the university on this trip and to serve as the scientist of the party. Robert Brown, a son will be an assistant. Mrs. Brown, the wife and mother, will lend her ability as a painter to the success of the expedition, particularly in reproducing the natural coloring of the grilliant fish which swarm the seas in tropical climes. A few other members of the party will probably be announced later.

The course of the cruise is not yet definitely outlined, but it is stated that the party will probably visit the Marquesas, Society, Friendly, Samoan and Fiji islands. It is also planned to stop at New Zealand and, if time and other arrangements permit, the party may visit Japan, this at the invitation of a Japanese scientist who was in Hawaii at the time the party visited those islands two years ago. Collections of fish will be sought primarily, although it is expected that many birds and a few mammals will be added to the university museums as a result of the trip.

HOMES FOR MILLIONS BURN IN FIVE YEARS

New York, Feb. 3.—Three hundred and thirty-four thousand dwellings at $5,000 each, sufficient to house 1,700,000 persons, could be built with the money lost in fires in the United States from 1915 to 1920, according to figures given out today by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The board places the national fire loss during the five-year period at $1,672,723,677, based on an examination of over 3,000,000 reports of fires.

Matches and smoking hazards are held responsible for $90,000,000 of losses, according to the report. Next comes electricity, which caused fires costing $86,000,000. Stoves, furnaces, boilers and pipes caused a loss of $63,000,000; defective chimneys and flues, $61,000,000 and "exposure" which means communicated fires, $233,000,000.

As a basis of comparison, the underwriters figure that the five-year fire losses of the nation would build $5,000 homes for the entire population of Nevada, Wyoming and Connecticut. They would erect 16,722 school houses at $100,000 each; or would purchase 16,722 grams of radium, the costliest of earth's products.

Sixty-seven percent, $856,000,000, of the total loss was classed as strictly or partly preventable.

New York suffered most heavily with a loss of $164,000,000; Pennsylvania came second with $97,000,000; Illinois third with $88,000,000. Follow New Jersey, with $70,000,000; Ohio with $63,000,00; Texas, $59,000,000; Massachusetts, $58,000,000 and California, $54,000,000.

Of course, there is plenty of room at the top. As soon as a man gets there he feels an irresistible impulse to push everybody else off.

A Bible Thought for Today.

POWER OF THE WORD:—For the word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword, piercing even to the dividing asunder of soul and spirit, and of the joints and marrow, and is a discerner of the thoughts and intents of the heart.—Hebrews 4:12.

INTERNATIONAL HORSE TRADING.

When President Wilson came back from Paris, he was bitterly denounced by the Republicans because he had had to make compromises to secure agreement. His opponents, anxious to trip him up, held up each little fault of the treaty to scorn, and finally managed to beat it.

Now that their party has come into power, they see difficulties that come up in trying to negotiate treaties with foreign nations.

It is a kind of game of international horse trading, in which the powers are all playing for their own several advantages. If the United States wants to get its more advanced ideas accepted, it has to pay for them by conceding various points to the selfish contentions of the old world nations. Wilson had to do it, and Hughes has had to.

President Wilson was bitterly blamed, for instance, for tolerating the presence of Japan in Shantung. But Mr. Harding and Mr. Hughes can now see what a difficult proposition it is to get the Japs out of that province. Mr. Wilson had to yield that point, but he was well compensated, by persuading the powers to adopt so enlightened a conception as the League of Nations. If the Republican senators had not destroyed the fruit of his labors by their contumacious obstinacy, all the compromises that President Wilson had to make at Paris would have proved well worth while.

The lyceum speaker at the Newark High School last Friday night touched upon the far east question intelligently and tellingly. He told of Japan's title to Shantung and compared it with our title to the Philippines, remarking that we would certainly resent a demand upon Japan's part to quit the Philippine Islands. Another interesting observation the speaker made was this: President Harding called the Washington conference for the purpose of discussing limitation of naval armament, then added that the conference would also consider the far eastern situation. Suppose that Japan instead of the United States had called the disarmament conference and then added a supplement saying that in addition the delegates would also consider the Monroe doctrine! What would the people of the United States thought of that?

Mr. Hughes will have to make equal concessions to the old style game of horse trading diplomacy, in order to get results. In the end he can not secure any such triumph as Mr. Wilson achieved in establishing the League of Nations. Fortunately the Democratic senators are willing to accept anything good that may come out of the Washington conference, and will not follow the example set by their opponents when they wrecked the splendid achievement attained at Paris.

CREATIVE SALESMANSHIP.

"Do you simply 'wait on' customers," asked a merchant of a clerk the other day, "or do you practice creative salesmanship?"

This is a question which every seller of goods in Newark may well ask himself. Some will say that creative salesmanship is persuading people to buy things they never wanted before. Some business men have won success in that way. Still it has its disadvantages, since if people are ever persuaded into buying an article, they usually regret it afterward.

The best kind of creative salesmanship is to become so thoroughly informed about goods that people like to do business with you, because they feel that you help them get the most values for their money. A clerk who does that is constantly building up new business for his firm, and is the finest type of a creative salesman. That is the kind of salesmanship the stores of Newark are working for.

The Germans are spending their money as fast as they can, so as not to have any left with which to pay for the damage they did.

The old fashioned women folk say that what this country needs is fewer boards of directors and more washboards.

GETTING HIM OUT OF THE WAY

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Senator Kenyon's acceptance of a place in the federal circuit bench, surprises the public. That the president would be glad to get the Iowa man out of congress is not strange, but that the senator would take the proffered "promotion" could not have been guessed. Kenyon's own explanation that he has long been ambitious to exchange toga for ermine does not explain.

The Iowa senator has been leader of the agrarian bloc and a militant independent. He could have retained his position in congress indefinitely. Even the presidency itself has been thought by some not beyond possibility for him. This conspicuous and one would supose congenial position in public life Kenyon now surrenders for a modest judgeship in the west.

By sending him to the federal bench the president removes from the senate not only a leader of the bloc but a possible rival for the nomination in 1924. The latter possibility need not have been taken seriously, for it is dificult to imagine that the president's renomination will be challenged within his own party. The situation in relation to the bloc and Kenyon's connection with it presents another picture. Mr. Harding and his close followers have denounced the agrarians as constituting a menace to responsible government and as long as it retained the resourceful leadership of Kenyon it was certain to remain more or less a stumbling block in the path of the administration program. Whether the bloc will long survive the loss of its leader is a matter of conjecture.

Leaving the president out of consideration, it is clear that without Kenyon the senate will be a far pleasanter place for Newberry, whom Kenyon tried to keep out, and for Willis, whose weasel-worded amendment let Newberry in. As for the country, we venture to say, it would have preferred that Kenyon remain a senator.

You smiled, sweet maid, but never laughed,
In 1837, dear,
We'd think you would have gone quite daft.

Your chief sport was the gentle craft
Of cross-stitch samplers, so we hear,
You smiled, sweet maid, but never laughed.

Your sweeping skirts would microbes waft
When on the street you did appear,—
We'd think you would have gone quite daft.

Your tea was primly sipped, not quaffed,
Your waist was very small and queer,
You smiled, sweet maid, but never laughed.

You could not, with a metal shaft
Compressing lungs both front and rear,
We'd think you would have gone quite daft.

Your figure, viewed from fore or aft,
Just like a hour glass did appear,—
We'd think you would have gone quite daft,
You smiled, sweet maid, but never laughed.

Did You Know

That copper is one of the most anciently known metals? Its name is derived from the island of Cyprus, where it was first obtained by the Greeks. In the earlier times copper does not appear to have been employed by itself, but was always mixed with other metals, principally tin forming what is now called bronze.

A Real Gift.

Answers To Questions

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Advocate Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive researches on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in stamps for return postage. All replies are sent direct to the inquirer.

Q. If the soil of China is so fertile, why does a drought cause a famine? C. J. S.

A. The soil of China, while extremely fertile, is too porous for successful irrigation, and the crops depend entirely upon favorable rainfall.

Q. How much water content is there in green fuel? M. C.

A. Cordwood from living trees contains from 25 to 45 per cent water. It takes from nine to 12 months to season cordwood thoroughly, but the moisture content can be reduced 65 per cent in about three months.

Q. What kind of a rope do cowboys use? H. B. H.

A. A cowboy uses a rope made either of hair, hide, or common hemp. The art of lassooing an animal depends not so much upon the material of which the rope is composed, as upon the twist that is given it by the turn of the wrist of the cowboy.

Q. Where is the trans-Siberian railroad? G. I. T.

A. The great trans-Siberian railroad stretches from Chelyabinsk to Vladivostok. There is a branch line from Kharbiom to Port Arthur. At the other end it connects with the railway to Moscow. The railroad crosses the northeastern corner of Manchuria, crosses the Altai mountains, circles around the southern end of Lake Baikal, turns north across to Krasnoiarsk, then west to Omsk, and on across the Ural mountains.

Q. What is the world's speed record for an airplane? P. M. S.

A. On December 10, 1921, an official record was made covering a straight kilometer of 121 miles an hour, by Herbert James at Martlesham Heath, England.

Q. What country made the first constitution? R. B. Y.

A. Constitutions were adopted by the Roman empire and the Roman republic, also by the various free commonwealths of ancient Greece. Modern constitutions are to some extend based on these instruments of the ancients.

Q. How long is it since England took Ireland, and what was the King's name then? D. A.

A. In 1155, Pope Adrian IV by a bull gave Henry II of England authority over the entire island of Ireland.

Q. What is the origin of the word wheat and where was it first grown? T. T. S.

A. The word wheat can be traced back to the old English word hwaete, allied to hwit, meaning white. The most ancient languages mention wheat, and the fact that it has been found in prehistoric lake dwellings of man is proof of its antiquity. The Chinese cultivated it 3,000 years B. C., and it constituted the chief crop of ancient Egypt and Palestine. Its geographical origin is somewhat uncertain, but the best existing evidence seems to point to Mesopotamia as the original source. At least there is rather wide acceptance of the belief that wheat grew wild in Tigris and Euphrates valleys and that it spread from there to the rest of the world.

Q. How many telephones are there in New York City? H. R.

A. According to last statistics there are 812,170 telephones in New York City.

THINK.

(By J. L. WATKINS.)

Rob any business of its source of ideas and it becomes a willy-nilly, spineless affair—a commercial derelict at the mercy of the ever-shifting winds of trade.

Success demands two things—ideas—and belief in them.

Some years ago The Goodrich company made its initial lot of golf balls and sent them around to golf clubs for testing. Mr. Haskell, the president of a western club, told the head of The Goodrich company that the balls were "dead" and requested that the rubber core be compressed to make the ball "lively."

After some discussion and modification The Goodrich company asked Mr. Haskell to see the company's patent attorney and promised a 10 percent royalty if the idea were feasible. Mr. Haskell spent perhaps a half-hour with the attorneys at Akron. A few years afterward his royalties amounted to $30,000 a year!

Ideas! Many brilliant ideas are buried in the oblivion of modesty and self-doubt. Nearly everyone has recognized some old discarded idea of his own in a new invention, a sonnet, a drama, a lecture or a sales campaign.

Ideas! You have them. They flash and flame in the recesses of your mind like a diamond's rays in the darkness of the night.

Ideas! If a man suppresses them because men around him are more experienced, or because better ideas have been thought of, or because he fears that somebody will criticize, ridicule or discover a flaw in them—then he'll never get far.

Ideas! Upon them no man has a monopoly. They are yours to conceive, create, effect. They come from everywhere at any time. Woolworth was selling a paper of pins when he bore the idea of chain stores. Watt was watching the teakettle boil when he thought of the power of steam. Chopin conceived the idea for one of his rarest nocturnes from the plaintive melody of a plasterer's song.

Ideas! We need them. There's a carpeted room and a mahogany desk in our own business structure for the man with logical thoughts and sound ideas.

Ideas! More men like Haskell. The commercial world can use them. They are the very pulse of progress.

OF COURSE!

ART IS LINK WITH ORIENT

Jap Dancer Declares It Is Language All Can Understand.

Discusses Reasons Why Orient Is Not Better Understood in U. S.

(By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 3.—That art can be the means of bringing the nations together in peace is the belief of Michio Itow, Japanese dancer in this country.

Itow believes that a 10-year naval holiday would be simply that and nothing more if no attempt was made to promote a spirit of fellowship between nations during the 10-year experiment. Art, he says, is the international language through which men of all nations express themselves. Therefore, to use another figure, art is the common field on which they can best meet.

"Today the world is divided into three parts—America, Europe and Asia," he said, speaking in rapid English and making eloquent gestures. "Europe and America have much in common since America is an offshoot of Europe. They understand each other to some extent. But Asia is not so allied. Yet we must have understanding. How can east and west talk of peaceful settlement in Shantung and Yap until they understand each other?"

Itow finds one reason for misunderstanding in the different types of culture in different parts of the world.

"Today we discover that there is such thing as a spiritual civilization. We have in the east 6,000 years of art and philosophy from a spiritual standpoint. In western countries there is much material development. But there is no balance in east or west. East is three-fourths spiritual; West, three-fourths material. Each has something that the other lacks, and each needs the other."

Itow, we understand, does not mean by this that the philosophies of the Orient should be transferred to the west for our higher development. It is rather the inborn serenity with which the east regards the world that the turbulent west lacks. The Orient, which for centuries made so little progress in science and trade, is now rapidly learning from us. The balance between the spiritual and the material is tending to right itself there. So far, however, the west has scarcely given any thought to the possibility of deriving practical benefit from eastern culture.

Itow regards art as the link to bring the two sides of the world together.

"Whether I dance in Moscow, Seville or Tokio, I am understood," he says. "I speak to the people in a language that they can read. Hate, love, fear, are expressed physiologically by more or less the same muscles everywhere. The difference is mainly in degree. The Italian is emotional. The English type is more repressed."

Other arts also speak from nation to nation, but the dancer is naturally most interested in his own medium of expression. Dancing, he says, is the newest of the arts—to be recognized as such. Yet it is the highest form of expression. He explains this claim of the supremacy of the dance by the example of temple dancing.

"In Japan I have seen in the temple priests holding ceremonies. While they chant, a circle of dancers sits on floor, motionless. When priests reach climax, when no more words of praise or supplication can be found, they stop." How's expressive hands that had been suggesting the motions of the priest fell. Then with sinuous gestures he showed the temple girls beginning to rouse into life and sway into figures of the dance.

"When dancers begin to move, the service rises to its highest peak," he explained. "Where possibilities of voice end, dancing begins.

"These possibilities of the dance are neglected in the west. Churches could use symbolic dances as a valuable art of the service. Dancing was once used and theater and church belong together. I do not blame the churches for denouncing the dance as it is in popular use. But in its highest forms, as sincere are, it is worthy of respect.

"One New York church last year attempted use of symbolic dancing as an experiment, and I believe eventually the dance will be brought back into favor as a form of worship."

Itow is interested in getting recognition for the universal quality of art. He is holding, as an experiment, oriental entertainments in this city with oriental artists of various kinds on the program. His aim is to see if the American public is interested in learning from the East and if it wants to co-operate in the work of making art international.

If it is interested, he expects to work to have the nations establish international theaters and art galleries in their big cities. Eastern painters would exhibit in this country, and our painters would exhibit in Europe and Asia.

The international theater would also be a project for exchange of talent. Itow advocates not just the appearance of foreigners who happen to be in the country. He urges rather that the highest class of actors, dancers and musicians go from one country to another to display their art.

Details of this scheme are not all worked out. The dancer, as Itow says, speaks an international language. So, to a great extent, does the painter, and also the sculptor, musician, and moving picture actor.

But when it comes to the speaking stage there are serious limitations. It is practically impossible that a play which depends on its lines to tell its story should be a success in this country if presented in Japanese, says, or Russian. Sarah Bernhardt, heralded as the greatest actress of her day, packs houses in this country, even though she plays to her audiences in French. But she is an isolated exception. And besides, she speaks French, the popular foreign language among Americans, and she speaks very distinctly, so that people who have a bit of schoolbook French find her comparatively easy to understand.

How this handicap of tongues is to be overcome in the artistic melting pot, Itow says he is not yet sure. Educated foreigners, however, are more versatile than Americans when it comes to languages. Itow himself speaks a number of languages to help him in traveling when eloquent gestures cannot always be made to produce tea or ice water. It may be that we shall some day see Japanese plays enacted in true Japanese style by native artists, yet in the English language.

Itow thinks that America should have half a dozen international theaters. He knows Shaw, Yeats, Maeterlinck, Haupmann, and Tagore, and says that they agree with him that artists are ready to unite in a spirit of brotherhood. Considering the vast artistic population of America from Provincetown to Greenwich Village and thence to all points west, it seems plausible that a spirit of brotherhood among the artists of the world might indeed become a potent force.

Advocate Will Receive Subscriptions To Wilson Fund

The campaign to endow the Woodrow Wilson Foundation is now under way with Capt. E. D. Leach, chairman of the Licking county organization. The goal is one million dollars. Every state has been organized and subscriptions are being received from every section of the country.

THE FOUNDATION

Created by public subscription in recognition of the national and international services of Woodrow Wilson, twice president of the United States, who furthered the cause of human freedom and was instrumental in pointing out effective methods for the co-operation of the liberal forces of mankind.

THE AWARD

The award or awards from the income of the Foundation will be made from time to time by a nationally constituted committee to the individual or group that has rendered within a specified period meritorius service to democracy, public welfare, liberal thought or peace through justice.

THE ADVOCATE FUND

The Advocate believes in the purposes of this Foundation to keep alive the ideals of a great American in such form that they will be both an inspiration and a reward to other men whose ambition it is to "enable the world to live more amply, with greater vision, with a finer spirit of achievement." All gifts will be acknowledged. All givers will receive an artistic certificate which will mark the recipient as one of the founders of the Woodrow Wilson Awards. Subscriptions sent to the Advocate will be given to Chairman E. D. Leach.

The certificate will be issued from National Headquarters of the Foundation, 150 Nassau Street, New York City.

OUR GUARDIAN ANGELS.

Editor of the Advocate:—Who are the angels watching over each barque, as we sail on the ocean of life? Have they the power dark waters to still, or the waging tempest to calm at will? What is their mission? Oh who can tell? Will they record each day our words, our actions, and even our thoughts? And when the curtains of night have mantled the sky, will they carry that record to the courts on high, there to be recorded by a Judge Supreme. While I await my sentence until the courts convene? In my dreams I have wondered what my sentence would be, for it seemed that no one was pleading for me. And I trembled to think what the verdict would tell, for the work that I did seemed never done well. I awake from my slumber and by faith I could see, an advocate pleading in heaven for me. My Savior who gave his life with undying love had sealed my pardon with his precious blood.
